Women Fail Police Running Test

By MARY LEYDECKER

The first seven women to try for police officer jobs in the San Rafael Police Department washed out in an agility test Saturday because they couldn't run fast enough.

At least six of the women, who ranged in age from about 21 to 35, successfully performed indoor feats of agility and strength, one of them told the Independent-Journal today.

But it was the requirement that they run 440 yards in 85 seconds that was the undoing of all of the women.

Asking to remain anonymous because she is contemplating legal action, one of the women told the Independent-Journal, "It was really disappointing when we came so close to be completely wiped out on one test."

One woman came within five seconds of passing the running test, she said.

San Rafael City Mgr. William J. Bielser said today that 91 applicants (including the seven women) took the test, and 72 passed. He confirmed that all the women failed. Those who flunked the agility test were not allowed to take the written portion of the examination.

The women questioned that being able to run the required course in the given time is important in police work.

"Some of the officers there said they couldn't pass the test, and one tried and he couldn't," a woman told the Independent-Journal.

"They seemed to think the tests were a joke," she added.

Bielser and Police Chief Lawrence R. Kelly confirmed the women's complaints that officers are not required to pass agility tests once they are hired by the department.

But Kelly said he thought "quite a number" of his men could successfully complete the tests, which included push-ups, sit-ups, pull-ups, jumping on a chair 150 times in five minutes, scaling a six-foot fence and carrying a person one's own weight a distance of 70 yards.

Kelly said he couldn't think of an example "off the top of his head" where an officer's running ability had been important, but he said "if you have to chase someone, you have to be able to catch them." There were "any number of times" in his own career, he said, that "I was glad to be a good runner."

He said the 440-yard dash requirement really "wasn't very stiff" and that if the women "had practiced jogging at all," he thought they could have passed the test. He added, though, that the applicants did not know ahead of time what feats they would be required to perform.

"We were doing better than the men on the indoor things," one woman told the I-J.

Kelly said it has been proposed that officers in his department be required to keep their weight down to certain levels and that if necessary, he would give agility tests regularly.

Agility tests have been challenged in San Francisco, and a judge has ordered the police department there to give them to a random selection of present officers.

A spokesman for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (a federal body) told the Independent-Journal that any tests required for obtaining employment must be "highly job related."

He said that if a complaint is filed, the burden of proof is on the employer and that if present employees are not required to maintain the same level of physical aptitude as applicants then the test is probably illegal.

While women police officers are definitely a rarity in Marin County, the sheriff's department now has three women on patrol duty and one woman has long been a juvenile officer.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson said today that those women, like all sheriff's department employees, took tests made up and administered by the county personnel department, not the police department, as in the case of San Rafael.

A personnel department employee said she did not know what the agility test included, but one of the women sheriff's deputies recently told the Independent-Journal, "The only disadvantage I have over a man is physical strength."

At 45 years, she said, she had received training in self-defense and pistol shooting.

"All we ask is the chance to be trained," one of the women said.

BICYCLE BUILT FOR ONE HAS ALL EXTRAS

SEATTLE (AP) — Lloyd Page liked his 10-speed bicycle, so he added a few extras:

Two horns, headlight, four tail lights, turn signals, 34 reflectors, a radio with three speakers and an earphone, extra seat padding, a "sissy bar" with three headrests and a backrest, water bottle, luggage case and three sets of handle bars.

Page says, "I'm not exactly creative, but I like to do things interesting, to put things together. It's my hobby.

"I'm getting a windshield for it and I'm designing a top with hinges so I can ride in the rain without getting wet," he added.

Plea Is Made For Chrysler To Stay Open

Detroit, Union Leaders Oppose Shutdown Plans

DETROIT (UPI) — Top city and union officials today urged Chrysler Corp. executives not to halt all car production next month — a move that could push Motor City unemployment to depression era levels.

A meeting scheduled to discuss Chrysler's plans to permanently close its Jefferson Avenue assembly plant in Detroit was overshadowed by reports the No. 3 automaker would shut all six U.S. assembly plants in December.

Layoffs in the troubled auto industry approached the 95,000 mark today in the wake of the worst new model sales start in a decade and the highest-in-history inventory of unsold cars. Industry sources said the layoff list could double if further cutbacks being discussed are carried out.

The United Auto Workers group at the meeting was headed by President Leonard Woodcock. Mayor Coleman A. Young headed a city delegation and Chrysler Chairman Lynn Townsend attended with other corporate officers.

The mayor was expected to tell Townsend that unemployment as high as 28 per cent in Detroit's inner city would result from a permanent shutdown of the Jefferson Avenue plant, his press secretary said.

Young will plead with Townsend, press secretary Robert Popa said, "to consider the specific hardships that are going to be inflicted on Detroiters if Chrysler shuts the Jefferson Avenue plant permanently, and if rumors are true about the planned shutdowns of all Chrysler facilities for the month of December."

A shutdown of all Chrysler facilities would have the greatest effect on the Detroit area where more than 60,000 of the company's 114,000 workers are employed. Three of Chrysler's six U.S. assembly plants are in the Detroit area, with most of its manufacturing facilities located nearby.

Early November new car sales were off more than 38 per cent from last year's already depressed levels and the industry now has a record 80-day supply of unsold cars. Chrysler's stockpile of more than 120 days would last more than four months at current sales rates.

Chrysler had 26,600 workers off the job today, 19,400 of them indefinitely. General Motors, with a 70-day supply of cars, idled 49,300 workers this week, 36,100 indefinitely, with Ford reporting a 75-day supply of cars and 18,675 workers off the job, 10,425 indefinitely.

Wornum's Mind Not Made Up On Swearing In Date

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Assemblyman-elect Michael Wornum said yesterday he still does not know whether he will be sworn in when the new legislature is seated two weeks from today, or wait until January so the new governor can appoint his successor on the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Wornum, who had been vacationing out of state since his election Nov. 5, said he will review his legal position with Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney before deciding what to do.

Legislative Counsel George H. Murphy has issued an opinion that if Wornum fails to be sworn in Dec. 2, the constitution may require the governor immediately to declare the seat vacant and call a special election to fill the slot for the next two years.

Wornum said he remains determined to assure that his successor on the board "would not be harmful to what I conceive to be the best interests of the Third (supervisorial) District." The district includes Belvedere, Tiburon, Mill Valley, Tamalpais Valley, Marin City and Sausalito.

"I want to make it clear," Wornum stressed, that his position "is an intention; it's never been a commitment."

Wornum criticized his predecessor, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, for declaring that he would run for the seat if a special election were called. Charging Bagley with "a little bit of political sour grapes," Democrat Wornum said Bagley "gave up this seat, ran for state office, lost, designated his own chosen appointee to run for the state assembly, who lost, and now wishes to seat in my (supervisorial) seat his administrative assistant."

(Bagley is backing his administrative assistant, Virginia Brunini of Tiburon, for appointment by Gov. Ronald Reagan to Wornum's seat on the board of supervisors.)

"If he wanted the seat," Wornum said of Bagley, "he should have damn well run

Full Hearing Ordered On 'Bombshell' Memo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today ordered a full hearing to determine whether E. Howard Hunt's long-lost "bombshell" memo demanding money and pardons for the Watergate burglars can be submitted as evidence in the cover-up trial.

The hearing — sort of a trial within in trial — will begin Wednesday out of the presense of the jury. It was expected to thwart prosecution plans to wrap up its cover-up case against five aides of former President Richard M. Nixon before the end of the week.

At issue is a memorandum written two years ago by Hunt, one of the original Watergate bugging conspirators, demanding that the Nixon administration live up to its prior "commitments" to provide money and pardons to the Watergate burglars.

The memo, which had been lost, suddenly was uncovered by the prosecution two weeks ago, catching the defense by surprise. Sirica said he wants to hear the full story of how the memo was found before the jury is told about it.

"I want everything laid out in open court," Sirica said before the jury entered the courtroom, starting the eighth week of the trial. "I don't care how many (witnesses) there are — they're going to take the stand so the public will know the truth and the jury will know at the proper time."

The key figure in the mystery is Washington attorney William O. Bittman, Hunt's former lawyer. Hunt testified early in the trial that he gave the memo to Bittman in mid-November 1972, to pass along to officials of Nixon's re-election campaign.

Bittman repeatedly denied, even before the grand jury, that he ever received such a document. But chief trial prosecutor James Neal told the court that Bittman surrendered it two weeks ago after members of his former law firm read Hunt's testimony and notified the prosecution that they had once seen such a memo.

Yule Tree Lights Get Official Nod

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Energy Administration says it's all right to put ornamental lights on your Christmas tree this year — but in moderation.

John C. Sawhill, who is retiring as head of the agency, said: "Christmas is a joyful and festive time and decorations bring atmosphere to the season. But simplicity is the key. Prudence is the word."

As one aide paraphrased it: "We are asking that people be prudent and not just go bananas."

The agency had these specific suggestions:

If you turn on ornamental lights, see if you can turn off regular lighting in the same room.

Prep Grid Action Comes To End

The Marin County Athletic League football season ended Saturday, with San Marin earning second place by defeating Terra Linda, 10-0.

Drake defeated Tamalpais, 33-21 in another MCAL game, and Marin Catholic beat Ravenswood of East Palo Alto, 35-20 in a non-league contest.

Showers predicted for today failed to materialize, and the weatherman said it will be "mostly fair" tonight and tomorrow with winds up to 20 miles per hour.

Japan Security Tight For Ford

TOKYO (UPI) — Protected by the tightest security this nation has seen since World War II, President Ford arrived in Japan on the first leg of a Far East trip today amid student riots and a threatened nationwide protest strike.

Dressed in a blue suit and blue shirt, Ford appeared tired when he stepped off Air Force One at Haneda Airport with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger after a grueling, 16-hour flight across many time zones.

His welcome was staid and highly controlled by security considerations — a 21-gun salute, a red carpet and a carefully selected crowd of 2,500 Japanese and 150 Americans on the spectator deck, many of them waving Japanese flags.

"It was a sunny day, and I believe that was a good sign for my trip as the first American president to visit Japan," Ford later said of his arrival. "The welcome was warm and friendly and I look forward to seeing more of the Japanese people."

But security prevented any handshaking or speechmaking. Instead, Ford was taken quickly from the tightly guarded airport by helicopter to an ornate, European style guest house in central Tokyo.

There he dined with Kissinger and staff and retired early in preparation for his meetings tomorrow with Emperor Hirohito and Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka.

Ten minutes before Air Force One set down, a band of 1,600 students from an ultraleft political group clashed violently with police at a park two miles from the airport. Police arrested 176 of the students, raising to 188 the number of persons placed in custody as the result of protests against Ford's visit.

Some 3.35 million Japanese workers from 59 unions have called a protest strike tomorrow.

Preparing for subsequent stops in South Korea and Vladivostok, where Ford will hold summit talks with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, Kissinger told reporters aboard Air Force One that the chances are better than 50-50 that the United States will sign a 10-year treaty limiting offensive and defensive missiles with the Soviets by next year.

Nixon Awaiting Exam By Court's Doctors

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — Richard Nixon is ready to be examined by three court-appointed physicians to determine whether he is physically able to testify in the Watergate cover-up trial, a spokesman says.

A Nixon spokesman said this weekend the former president has no objection to undergoing an examination by a team of doctors appointed by U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica.

"There's never been any question about that," the spokesman said. "Of course, they (the doctors) are welcome to examine him."

Nixon's attorney, Herbert J. Miller, told Sirica Friday he would fly to Nixon's oceanside villa during the weekend to confer with his client about the exam, and would try to have a response by tomorrow.

The spokesman said Miller talked with Nixon by telephone.

Watergate defendants in Washington contend Nixon's testimony is indispensable to their cases. The three-doctor team was appointed last week at the request of attorneys for former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman.

Dr. Charles A. Hufnagel, one of the court-appointed doctors, told Sirica he would not proreed with the examination until there is assurance that Nixon consented.

Ronan Says Loans Had No Strings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. William J. Ronan said today the $625,000 in gifts and loans he received from vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller was intended to help him in his retirement and had no strings attached.

The 62-year-old head of the New York-New Jersey Port Authority told the Senate Rules Committee hearings on Rockefeller's nomination that the gifts and loans were "an expression of generosity" and had no influence on his duties in several high positions in New York when Rockefeller was the govenor.

"His motives in assisting me and others were innocent of any ulterior design," Ronan said.

Ronan, who served as chief of staff for Rockefeller during his first eight years as governor, said "neither the administration of government in New York nor the citizens of that state suffered because of the loans and gifts he made."

The money to Ronan was one

Superpower Intervention Eases Tension As Israel Shells Lebanon

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Israeli gunboats today shelled a suspected Arab guerrilla sea base in southern Lebanon from which it said guerrilla frogmen had tried to infiltrate into Israel, the Israeli military command said. Diplomatic intervention by the superpowers eased tension between Israel and Syria, reported close to war this weekend.

Tension remained high on the Golan Heights and Israel said it would keep its troops on a war alert until Syria agrees to let U.N. truce observers remain on the cease-fire line when their mandate expires at the end of the month. The Beirut newspaper An Nahar reported today Syria had decided to let the U.N. troops remain — but would ask certain conditions.

In London, qualified diplomatic sources said only intervention by the United States and the Soviet Union appeared to have prevented a fifth Middle East War. But the diplomats said the the superpowers succeeded only for the moment and that the same Arab-Israeli problems remain.

Israel was concerned both with tension on the Syrian frontier and the possibility of Arab guerrilla raids from Lebanon. Today, Israel was having more troubles in the occupied West Bank where violence by backers of the Palestine Liberation Organization spread to East Jerusalem. Arab students there stoned passing vehicles and police.

"Terrorists tried to infiltrate from Lebanon by sea to the Israeli coast using floats for their personal weapons and explosives," the command said in an announcement. It said one guerrilla was killed and another captured in the infiltration attempt.

An Nahar, quoting diplomatic sources, said Syria will renew the U.N. mandate for another period of three to six months, the newspaper An Nahar said today. But it listed these Syrian conditions:

The resumption of the Geneva Arab-Israeli talks "as soon as possible," and the rejection of any political negotiations outside the Geneva peace conference.

THINK ZINC!

Suddenly, the importance of this trace mineral is being recognized by both "natural" and orthodox health authorities. Researchers find our diets are seriously low in zinc, due to artifical fertilizers and the processing of foods and beverages. Even slight deficiencies, they say, interfere with healing, keep us feeling "run down" and retard growth.

We're told zinc is also needed to detoxify cadmium, a poisonous metal present in high amounts in processed foods, industrially polluted air and soft drinking water. Raw wheat germ is a good source of zinc and we have a variety of supplements, too, to help balance your zinc supply.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Irish Mourn Death Of Childers

DUBLIN (UPI) — Mourners around the world paid tribute today to Erskine Childers, the only elected Protestant president of the predominantly Roman Catholic Irish Republic.

Childers, 69, died early yesterday only 18 months after he assumed the presidency. He was stricken by a heart attack.

Childers

The body of the English-born leader was scheduled to be taken from Mater Hospital today to lie in state at Dublin Castle.

Premier Liam Cosgrave decreed a day of national mourning on Thursday when Childers' remains were to be buried near his boyhood home in County Wicklow.

Chief Justice Thomas O'Higgins, transitional president until a successor is elected within 60 days, was to lead the cortege from the hospital to the castle.

Eva's Body Back

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Thousands of Argentina's "shirtless ones" turned out to welcome her home, tossing flowers at the flag-draped coffin and shouting the old cry, "Evita, Evita."

The body of Eva Peron, shipped secretly overseas more than 19 years ago by Argentina's generals, returned home yesterday to a land deeply divided by political strife.

The body of the fiery blonde idol of Argentina's masses joined her late husband, Juan Domingo Peron, in a shrine for outstanding historical figures.

Her oratory and vast charity network made Eva a figure worshiped with near-religious fervor by the "shirtless ones" — the working class masses who flocked to the Peronist movement.

Alaskan Recount

After a laborious hand count of 60,000 computer ballots, Dorothy McKenzie, state elections director, released the unofficial totals over the weekend.

They showed 46,322 for Hammond, a poet, conservationist, and former state legislator from Naknek, and 45,835 for Egan, the three-term governor.

Vicki Lawrence Weds Director

The 25-year-old television singer and actress and Schultz, 32, recently celebrated their eighth season together on the Carol Burnett Show. It was the second marriage for both.

Bomb Hoaxes

BELFAST (UPI) — Protestant extremists laced Belfast with fake bombs today in a protest against conditions in Maze prison, police said.

More than 20 hoaxes were reported by noon in all parts of the city.

The campaign was organized by the Ulster Volunteer Force in an effort to make the government improve living standards of prisoners in the prison south of the city.

Gunmen firing from a speeding car last night shot and killed a young man and wounded a woman and a 13-year-old boy as he walked home with his parents from an evening church service.

Canal Convoy

CAIRO (UPI) — Four ships anchored in the Suez Canal today, taking a break in the first commercial trip through the war-torn waterway in more than seven years.

The Egyptian ships steamed halfway down the 103-mile-long canal over the weekend after a massive cleanup operation cleared away much of the debris of two wars.

The freighter Aswan Star and the passenger ships Syria, El Sudan and Misr anchored at the central canal city of Ismailia and awaited permission to travel the rest of the way.

Oil Users Unite

PARIS (UPI) — Headed by the United States, 16 ranking industrialized nations today put into motion a common energy agency designed to beat back any new oil boycott.

The U.S. delegation to the initial meeting of the International Energy Agency predicted the 16 will hammer out "a hard and fast agreement on oil sharing" at today's first meeting.

First proposed by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger at the height of last year's Arab oil embargo, the agency aims to reduce members' dependence on energy imports, set up an emergency oil-sharing mechanism, develop an information system to keep tabs on the international oil market and promote cooperation with oil producing countries.

Greece And Nato

ATHENS (UPI) — Premier Constantine Caramanlis, who scored a runaway victory yesterday in Greece's first free election in a decade, said today that Greek relations with NATO will depend on the alliance.

Caramanlis withdrew Greece from the military branch of the alliance last August to protest NATO's importance in preventing Turkish troops from occupying 40 per cent of Cyprus in the wake of a Greek-led coup that overthrew President Archbishop Makarios.

The premier, buoyed by his huge victory in which he won 54.2 per cent of the popular vote, appealed to all Greeks for unity to meet the nation's crucial problems and said the most important problem Greece faced was the Cyprus issue.

Pioneer Speeding Toward Jupiter

MOUNTAIN VIEW (UPI) — The unmanned spacecraft Pioneer 11 raced toward Jupiter today at 22,000 miles an hour, taking more photographs of the giant orange and greywhite striped planet.

Pioneer 11, still some nine million miles from Jupiter, should reach the solar system's largest planet Dec. 2. It will then be traveling 107,000 miles an hour.

IRS Listed Enemies, Group Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Previously secret documents show the Internal Revenue Service compiled dossiers on 11,000 potential Nixon White House enemies, according to a Ralph Nader-sponsored research group.

It was not known whether the government has destroyed the documents.

The Public Citizens' Tax Research Reform Group disclosed yesterday it had obtained 41 IRS files on the subject after a year of trying, including the threat of a lawsuit against the federal tax agency.

The Ralph Nader-affiliated group circulated copies of some of the documents to support its conclusion that there were "3,000 groups and 8,000 organizations targeted for top-secret investigations by the IRS ... under a plan instigated in 1969 by the Nixon White House."

It released a partial list of organizations targeted for special investigation by the IRS between 1969 and 1973, including the National Council of Churches, Americans for Democratic Action, the John Birch Society, the Congress of Racial Equality, the United Klans of America, Inc., the Founding Church of Scientology and the Urban League.

Former White House counsel John W. Dean III first disclosed the existence of a politically motivated IRS investigative effort when he testified before the Senate Watergate committee in 1973.

IRS Commissioner Donald Alexander subsequently abolished the "Special Services Staff" that conducted the controversial investigations, and one of the IRS documents said the questionable files would be destroyed.

The research group said the IRS' own audits determined that all but 22 per cent of the 11,458 intelligence files should be destroyed, and the group tried to find out whether they had been.

"In a Nov. 8, 1974, response to a recent tax group inquiry as to the disposition of the old Special Services Staff files, the Justice Department's chief litigation attorney stated that 'it would be inappropriate to reply to this request in the context of the present action,'" the tax group said in a statement.

The group said the IRS documents show that "top IRS officials," pressured by the White House to begin investigating potential political enemies, met on July 2, 1969.

Mercedes-Benz cannot introduce the Diesel passenger car as a new idea. We did that over 38 years ago.

You don't develop a Diesel passenger car overnight. A Diesel is something very particular. Before you introduce one, you'd better know exactly what you're doing.

Mercedes-Benz knows. Because Mercedes-Benz has been consistently developing Diesels longer than anyone else. And Mercedes-Benz alone has sold Diesels in America for over a decade. So when you buy a Mercedes-Benz Diesel from us, you get something no one else can offer. Years of important Diesel experience.

Extraordinary fuel economy

One result of this Diesel experience is fuel economy. In a strictly supervised test conducted independently by Motor Trend magazine, our latest Diesel, the 240D, recorded 24.4 miles per gallon. And that was with an automatic transmission. This test was a combination of actual urban and highway driving—no "economy run" or "proving ground" tests. No other full-sized sedan—foreign or domestic—delivers this kind of mileage.

Another result of this Diesel experience is maintenance economy. While any car needs some routine servicing, with a Mercedes-Benz Diesel you can forget about tune-ups. Diesels need no spark plugs, no points, no distributor, no carburetor. No conventional ignition or carburetion systems—no tune-ups ever. And parts that aren't there can't break down.

Come in and look over a Mercedes-Benz 240 Diesel for yourself. It's the most advanced Diesel automobile sold in America. It has interior space and trunk room on a par with the finest domestic luxury cars. A full 5-passenger sedan that's all Mercedes-Benz.

Not just a Diesel, a Mercedes-Benz

Arrange to test drive this unique Mercedes-Benz. Feel its remarkable handling—a product of fully independent suspension. Feel the strength of its disc brakes—4-wheel disc brakes. Feel secure—no manufacturer in the world has a greater commitment to safety than Mercedes-Benz.

Exceptional mileage, maintenance economy and dependability with the bonus of outstanding Mercedes-Benz resale value. Come in to see us. We'll show you the automobile that delivers them all—the unique Mercedes-Benz 240D. Not just a Diesel. A Mercedes-Benz.

PURRR-FECT FASHION — Prince, a shorthaired cat owned by Geral Ann Bertel of Oakland, sported a cold-weather fur hat, at the annual Marin Cat Fanciers' show in the Marin Veterans Memorial Building over the weekend. More than 200 cats were judged for their good looks and amiable dispositions, but not for their fashions.

Choosing The Championship Cat

Baby show judges face the fury of parents whose offspring lose; horse show judges may get kicked; dog show judges may be bitten, but cat show judges must be the only ones in danger of chapped hands.

Each of the four judges who officiated Saturday and yesterday at the 23rd annual championship show of the Marin County Cat Fanciers had to spray their hands and their judging tables about 300 times with disinfectant during the two days they spent in examining and rating the almost 230 cats entered.

Each of the judges in turn judged all of the cats, in what the sponsoring club called its "four-ring circus." The disinfectant was used after each cat.

The exhibitors could buoy themselves up with the thought that their pets had three more chances if the first judge didn't decide they were winner. And winners' owners had to worry their way through three more judgings to see if their cats could make a clean sweep.

Between trips to the judging ring it was back to the show cages, where the cats each had a curtain-draped cubicle, usually with a soft fuzzy bed, and always a litter pan.

Spectators shuffled past cage after cage, wondering at the long string tails, strange curly coats and big ears of the rare breed, the subtle colorings of the Siamese, and the glamor of a dark Burmese whose brows looked as if made up with pearly eye shadow.

Francis, a huge bright orange domestic house cat (the catalog said his mother was Katrinka but his father was "unknown") eluded the boredom of the cage by riding around on his owner's shoulder like a big furpiece.

Rimming the wall of the show room in the Marin Veterans Memorial Building were sales booths, featuring brushes, catnip mice and magic potions to put on or in the felines to make them irresistibly beautiful, healthy and happy.

And for the owners' gratification there were artists to paint portraits of Tabby, and vendors of huge, bright-colored buttons declaring "cats are cool," "Burmese are better," and "my cat bites." For some unexplained reason, there also were buttons claiming "chows are cool," "I'm a bulldog lover."

After all four judges busied themselves through most of the days ranking the entries in dozens of classes, the attention focused on just one ring and its judge at a time, as each judge in turn handed out his or her awards for the top winners.

Judge A. David Bandy, stalking about on glittering shoes with two-inch thick soles, his lavender shirt gleaming in the lights, summoned all his choices at once to the holding cages behind his ring, and then kept the audience in suspense as he began by awarding his "fifth best in show" and progressed up the line, finally to his first pick, with pauses for the disinfectant. The owners whose cats got their ribbons first kept looking at the other contestants like the runners-up in a Miss America contest.

The the next judge took over, and the next.

One woman, whose cat won under one judge but not another, hung the best ribbons on the cat's cage, but put the others in her purse. "I only keep the winners," she told a neighboring exhibitor.

Judge Barbara St. George, come all the way from Albuquerque to judge, held aloft the "exotic shorthair" winner, tortoiseshell Grand Champion Kalawar's Sweet Pea of Swamy.

"This is the most exciting cat I've ever had the privilege of judging," she said, giving it her best in show ribbon.

Sweet Pea yawned.

KTIM Names Kirkwood

Jack Kirkwood, afternoon disc jockey for KTIM-AM, has been named program director for the San Rafael station, according to Robert W. Dinsmore, KTIM general manager.

In 1972, while managing a San Francisco hotel, Kirkwood entered evening classes in radio and television broadcasting.

In January of this year, he left the hotel field to devote full time to broadcasting.

Recount Is Likely In North Dakota

FARGO, N.D. (UPI) — Former Gov. William Guy says he will ask for a recount if tomorrow's canvassing board declares Sen. Milton R. Young a winner in the nation's only undecided Senate race.

An unofficial total made Young, a Republican, a winner by only 176 votes so the Democratic Policy Committee voted unanimously over the weekend to ask Guy to file the recount petitions with District courts.

Food Parley Said Success But Short Of Its Target

ROME (UPI) — Organizers of the World Food Conference called the 12-day meeting a success today even though the gathering fell short of a 10 million ton grain target believed needed to avert mass starvation.

The 130-nation gathering ended Saturday after the 2,000 delegates set up permanent international machinery to deal with future food shortages.

The main organizer praised the United States for leading the world in providing relief food and refused to criticize America for failing to pledge more.

The meeting, which opened Nov. 5, was at times marred by political bickering and failed to win specific guarantees for 10 million tons of food deemed necessary by experts.

Sayed A. Marei, the secretary general of the conference, told newsmen the conference was a success because it ushered in "a new phase in the history of the world" on international cooperation.

Marei, an Egyptian, played down U.S. refusal to give an extra million tons of grain aid. He said the United States was already giving millions of tons of food to hungry nations.

"Let's be fair about this," he said. "The United States is giving a tremendous amount of aid. It is the leading food aid contributor."

U.S. officials said President Ford declined to approve any increased food aid because of the adverse effects on domestic prices.

The conference, in a food plan still to be ratified by the U.N. General Assembly, agreed on:

An annual emergency food stockpile of 10 million tons to be held by contributing governments. The key issue of financing was left unsolved.

A permanent World Food Council to coordinate farming and nutrition programs.

An agricultural development fund, partly financed by oil producing nations, to finance farm projects in developing countries.

A greater role for women in food production and nutrition policy.

A recommendation for all governments to cut military spending by 10 per cent and use the savings for food production.

Quarantine Widened On Juniper Disease

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The state Department of Food and Agriculture has widened its quarantine on tam juniper and hawthorne plants to cover all of Marin County, in an effort to keep a plant-disfiguring rust disease from spreading to other parts of the state.

The hawthorne-juniper rust disease, apparently an unwanted arrival from Europe, was discovered in Mill Valley in 1966. A state program of spot quarantine and uprooting all junipers discovered near infected hawthorne trees was dropped last year, after the Marin County Board of Supervisors and homeowners protested against loss of the landscaping plants without compensaion.

The state is not permitted by law to pay indemnity for removed plants, according to C. B. Christensen, director of the state department.

The countywide quarantine prohibits movement of the two types of plants into, out of or within the borders of Marin County. Christensen appealed to nurserymen and landscape dealers to cooperate, lest nurseries be subject to costly "sanitary requirements" if infected by the rust.

He said the quarantine is designed to eliminate the disease by "attrition" and urged that homeowners plant other species if their hawthornes or junipers become diseased.

ROCKY

of about $2.5 million in gifts and loans which Rockefeller doled out to associates over a 17-year period. Although the money has raised ethical questions in Congress, Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said yesterday he thinks the Rules Committee will approve the nomination this week — perhaps unanimously.

Ronan said that despite the loans and gifts "there was neither any overt or implied obligation upon me to perform any service to Nelson Rockefeller, his family or the state of New York, nor any effort to condition my outlook or views on any matter of public policy."

Specifically, he said that the loans and gifts were not related to a dispute between the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority (TBTA) and the Metropolitan Transportation Authority (MTA), which he headed at the time.

The dispute ended in a merger agreement beneficial to TBTA bond holders who were represented by David Rockefeller, the president of Chase Manhattan Bank and Nelson's brother.

Ronan said the only purpose of the merger was to allow the MTA to use the TBTA's annual surpluses, thus preserving the 35-cent bus and subway fare in New York City. He said the merger was universally seen as a benefit to mass transit.

Ronan said he invested most of the money he received from Rockefeller in two old colonial houses on Long Island, a cooperative apartment in New York City and an industrial park in Southern California.

He said he received the bulk of the money, $550,000, in loans which he fully intended to repay until they were forgiven by Rockefeller last May.

"The purposes for which I sought these loans were to meet family needs and obligations, including educational and medical expenses, and in order to provide future capital for my family's future and my own retirement," Ronan said. "And these were exclusively the purposes for which the funds were used."

Cannon, D-Nev., criticized President Ford yesterday for going to the Far East while the country has no vice president.

"This trip was really not necessary, and I think it is unfortunate they went at this time when we do not have a vice president in place," he said in an interview on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

He rejected Ford's criticism that Congress has dragged its feet on the Rockefeller nomination, saying his committee could not have moved faster and still done its job.

He said he does not believe Rockefeller's gifts and loans will cost him the vice presidency.

"Based on what we know at the present time," Cannon said, "there is not a strong indication he was attempting to buy any political favors or political power."

"On the basis of what I know now, if nothing else develops, myself, I will vote for him," Cannon said.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., one of Rockefeller's harshest questioners during the committee hearings, has indicated he will vote for the nominee, and several other committee members have said the same.

On the basis of those statements, Cannon said it would appear the vote might be unanimous.

Faster Pheasant Harder To Kill

NETTLETON, England (UPI) — A gamekeeper whose sympathies lie with birds rather than hunters says he has bred a streamlined pheasant with a better chance of avoiding the guns.

"I don't like to see everything murdered," said Bill Jacob, 70. "The birds should have a better chance."

Jacob plans to sell eggs for a two-and-one-quarter pound pheasant he claims can fly 10 miles an hour faster than standard pheasants, which have been clocked at 45 miles an hour.

McCarthy Sees Jobless Increase

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy says the unemployment rate in California could reach 9.3 per cent by next August.

The San Francisco Democrat said yesterday he based his prediction on a report by the UCLA Economic Department.

"There are more than 800,000 people unemployed in this state that we've got to get back to work," he said.

The speaker addressed the first annual congress of the communities of the Outer Mission Organization. The gathering attracted more than 300 persons.

"I pledge, for my part, to work with you every day I possibly can to help bring about some changes in the present situations," McCarthy said.

Pueblo Crewmen To Be Decorated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy says it will decorate 78 former crewmen of the spyship Pueblo for their conduct while held prisoners by the North Koreans.

Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, skipper of the Pueblo when it was seized of North Korea, on Jan. 23, 1968, was not among those recommended for an award, the Pentagon said.

The Navy said 78 former Pueblo crewmen would receive 103 awards including a Navy Cross, nine bronze stars, 89 commendation medals and four Navy achievement medals.

The Navy said the awards are being mailed to the posts where the men are stationed to be presented individually.

Crashed Meteor Search Is Ended

CHEHALIS, Wash. (UPI) — Rain, low clouds and a paucity of results has apparently ended the search for a meteor reported to have crashed in nearby rugged logging country.

"There's nobody looking for it now," a spokesman for the Lewis County Sheriff's Office said yesterday.

Military and civilian aircraft circled the area Friday looking for a crater reported seen by two Army helicopter pilots.

A flying object, believed to have been a meteor, flashed across Pacific Northwest skies last Thursday night. It was reported by several pilots and many observers on the ground.

Cone Seeks Seat On Mill Valley Board

Frederick A. Cone of 986 Greenhill Road, Mill Valley, has filed for election to the Mill Valley School District Board.

Burglar Reward Signs Removed

CARY, N.C. (UPI) — Signs offering a $500 reward to anyone killing a burglar inside South Hills Shopping Center here have been taken down.

"I was getting too much controversy, too much sensationalism," said shopping center owner David J. Martin last week.

Martin erected the signs, which also offered $200 for burglars brought in alive, at each end of the mall earlier in the week in an effort to end a rash of burglaries.

Stores in the mall have been burglarized five times since July. Similar signs at a service station he owns had ended burglaries there about eight years ago, Martin said.

Police Chief J.W. Boles and other officials had warned that anyone who shot a burglar could face murder charges or lawsuits.

"I'll leave it up to the Cary police," Martin said.

Phone Company Refuses Listing

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — The Public Utility Commission said Bell Telephone doesn't have to put Mrs. Zephaniahaza Sebastian Klinghoffermandellfieldson III's, name in the Philadelphia Telephone directory.

The commission said this week her request for a listing was rejected because it failed to meet phone company criteria. Bell will not print a name unless it is the same name used for general identification purposes.

Bell said there was no proof of anything "real or legal" about the name Klinghoffermandellfieldson, which was submitted by Sarah T. Shore of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Shore said she considered her name "religious."

Marriage Dissolved

The marriage of Novato City Councilman Frederick F. Ruegg, 63, and his wife, Constance M., has been dissolved in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson ordered Ruegg, a retired executive for the Columbia Broadcasting system to pay $50 per month to his ex-wife as long as he remains on the council.

According to the petition, the couple was married July 1, 1933, in Boise, Idaho, and separated May 1, 1973. It cited irreconcilable differences. There are no children.

Golden Earring Is Oldest Find

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet archeologists have discovered a gold earring dating to 3,000 years before Christ — the oldest example of gold ever found in Eastern Europe, the newspaper Pravda said last week.

An excavation in the Astrakhan steppe in the southern Soviet Union uncovered the burial mound of the child of a chief and the earring was among artifacts buried with the child.

"The mound is contemporary with the Cheops pyramid of Egypt," said expedition chief Fedorov Davydov. "It dates back to 3,000 years before Christ."

Postmen Given Advice On Dogs

LONDON (UPI) — The latest issue of the Post Office Courier newspaper tells the nation's mailmen how to cope with biting dogs.

In the article, retired mail carrier Walter Bowler suggested that fear is what makes a dog bite.

"The best way to deal with him is to point your finger straight at him, walk towards him and fix him with your eyes, and he will go away," said Bowler, who admits to getting bitten more than 20 times during his carrer.

again for it, and not run for another office (state controller), lost, come back and say, 'I think I want it after all.' "

Wornum said Mrs. Brunini would not be on his list of Republicans he favors for the job if Reagan does the appointing, but added "that doesn't mean I would be absolutely against her."

He objected, however, that "she has not been active in any way in any political action in Southern Marin or anywhere else in the county." His defeat of Republican A. Alan Hill, Wornum said, was partly because Hill did not have his experience in local government. "I would think that the same principle would apply to my successor," Wornum said.

Representatives for both Reagan and Gov.-elect Edmund G. Brown Jr. have suggested that he submit the names of persons he would like to see appointed, Wornum reported. He declined to disclose who would be on his list.

Asked to comment on the push by Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley for his supervisorial seat, Wornum said he would be "happy to have Dean as my successor, but I am not pushing Dean — I'm not pushing anyone, really." The representatives for Reagan and Brown have assured him that "it's not my appointment," Wornum acknowledged.

"I would have some influence hopefully in who it would be, and I would have greater influence in seeing who it wouldn't be," he said.

He also commented that "Reagan would be rather happy if I did not take my seat because as soon as I take my seat the ball is passed to them, and they have (Sen. Peter H.) Behr (who supports Meyer) from one side and Bagley from the other, putting Reagan in a nice little difficult position. He's either going to alienate Bagley or Behr."

But, Wornum concluded, "if someone not too monstrous is appointed, I'm not going to worry about it."

Surgery On Army Wives Defended

AURORA, Colo. (UPI) — The chief of plastic surgery at Fitzsimons Army Medical Center says free cosmetic surgery for wives of military personnel provides valuable training for interns and is necessary to the psychological health of patients.

Col. Jospeh R. Zbylski said operations such as breast enlargement and facelifts were being performed more frequently on military wives now because of a declining demand to fix disfigurations caused by combat.

He said Fitzsimons has three plastic surgeons who operate one of only two plastic surgery residency programs in the Army.

Although Zbylski admitted he is not a psychiatrist, he said he is the one who decides whether cosmetic surgery is needed to help the patients' psychological state.

Free Lithuanian Visits Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Simas Kudirka, a Lithuanian sailor imprisoned nearly four years in a Soviet labor camp for trying to escape to the West, visited the largest Lithuanian community in the United States during the weekend. He wept as he addressed a crowd of welcomers.

"My plans are first to breathe the free air of the United States. I am a man who has returned from the grave. I ask you to be patient. Do not put me on a pedestal," Kudirka told a crowd of several thousand Lithuanian-Americans who met his plane.

Flanked by his mother, Maria, his wife, Gene, and one of his two children, 14-year-old Lolita, the teary-eyed Kudirka said through an interpreter that he was "a man who brings a message to the American people —that my country is oppressed and enslaved."

Sales Tax Suit Gains Approval

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The state Supreme Court has ruled that a suit to collect refunds of part of the sales tax paid on new cars during four months of 1971 may be filed on behalf of all the purchasers involved.

The court said a "class action" suit could be filed in the matter. It would be filed on behalf of an estimated 500,000 persons who bought cars between Aug. 15 and Dec. 11, 1971.

The federal government imposed an excise tax on new cars and later repeated it retroactively. The current suit, filed by George Javor of Los Angeles, seeks refunds of the sales tax, which he estimated could total $10 million.

Grant Renewed To Fight Crime

Petaluma's year-old crime prevention program, which chiefly focuses on prevention of home burglaries, has received a $17,710 grant for another year of operation, Chief of Police Larry D. Higgins has announced.

The money, provided by the Federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968, was allocated through the stte office of Criminal Justice Planning, Higgins said.

The funds will pay the salary of the city's crime prevention officer, Gloria Bragg of San Anselmo, who has charge of an educational program telling homeowners how to protect themselves against break-ins.

Closed Session Policy On Tap

The Tamalpais High School District board will discuss its policy for announcing and reporting closed sessions when it meets today at 8:30 p.m. in the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

Under a policy adopted Feb. 4, the board now gives only a brief and ambiguous statement of the purpose of the closed session.

The board also will discuss its program, staffing and fiscal planning study.

A closed session at 7:30 p.m. will precede the meeting. The board will meet with its salary negotiating team.

Novato Woman Dies Of Wound

Doris Nell McLean, 48, of 575 Eldridge Avenue, Novato, died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the chest, the Marin coroner's office reported today.

It was reported in Saturday's I-J only that Mrs. McLean died "suddenly" at her home.

Her husband, Donald A. McLean, told the coroner's deputy that when he arrived home at 5:15 p.m. Friday he saw his wife in bed and assumed she was asleep. About an hour later when he went to awaken her for dinner he discovered she had a gunshot wound and a .22-caliber gun was lying next to her.

Water Shutoff Policy To Be Reviewed

The Marin Municipal Water District will review its policy on cutting off service for nonpayment of water bills at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the district office, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

Under the current rule the shutoff period is 95 days after the original bill is mailed and auditor-controller Sage L. Morris has recommended it be reduced to 74 days.

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — Hans J. Schiller of Mill Valley and Gordon Pusser of Lagunitas have been named by the Democratic State Central Committee to a pool of 31 alternate delegates to the National Democratic Charter Conference in Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 6-8.

Novato School Board To Meet

The Novato Unified School District Board will decide how to spend about $360,000 in extra funds at a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Novato High School lecture hall.

The district has more revenue than estimated because enrollment is higher than expected. In addition, there are more students than expected from Hamilton Air Force Reserve Base and this means more federal funds.

The board also will consider a request from the Novato Little League for permission to construct a baseball field on a nine-acre unused school site adjacent to Novato High School.

Profits Way Up For PVC Firm

By DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. I bought 100 shares of Robintech (ASE) at $50. The government's newly announced safety regulations for vinyl chloride manufacturers has eroded the price of the stock. Earnings have been excellent, however. Should I hold or sell? — A.B.

A. Adjusted for the October, 1974, 33⅓% stock dividend, your new cost base is $37.60 per share. Thus, the stock is currently trading about 15 per cent below your cost and 19 per cent below its all-time high. This market reaction to the new safety standards may have been overdone in Robintech's case.

The company believes that all its PVC pipe-fabricating plants and its new Texas plant are in compliance with the proposed standards. The jointly owned Texas plant, which came on stream last month, is fully computerized. Now capable of producing 220 million pounds annually, plant capacity will be upped by 150 million pounds upon completion of expansion.

The company's Ohio plant, which was acquired from Allied Chemical in 1973, is comparatively new but may require some further modification in order to comply ($200,000 has already been expanded to reduce air pollution at the plant). It is expected that the price of PVC will be raised one to two cents per pound industrywide to recover the costs of meeting the new regulations. Since Robintech's costs will probably be minimal, most of the price increase should flow through to profits.

Since fiscal 1970, revenues have more than tripled, while primary earnings have risen from 18 cents to $3.68 per share (adjusted for the 33⅓ per cent recently paid stock dividend). In the September quarter, first period of fiscal 1975, revenues were up 48 per cent and adjusted earnings increased from 40 cents to $2 per share. The vertical integration achieved with the purchase of the Allied Chemical plant has been an important factor in widening Robintech's profit margin to 8.3 per cent for fiscal 1974 and to 15 per cent in the September quarter vs. 4 per cent a year earlier. Equally important, however, have been the soaring demand for PVC and management's tight control of expenses. Shares are a solid hold.

Big Drop Reported In Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices plunged along a broad front today in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange in reaction to growing evidence of a severe recession and rising inflation.

Wall Street was deeply concerned about the decline in the nation's industrial output. Investors were disappointed in the delay in the ratification process of a tentative new coal industry settlement which will prolong a nationwide strike about to enter its second week.

Further concern was shown over the plight of the auto industry. There were expectations Chrysler would announce a near total production shutdown for the month of December later in the day. Chrysler lost ½ in active trading.

General Motors, which may announce further layoffs, was the second most active issue, off 1⅜ to 31⅞ on 91,100 shares. Ford, which said late last week it was laying off nearly 10,000 more workers, dropped 1.

Because of the coal strike, U.S. Steel, which plans to lay off 13,700 workers, said it may have to furlough more. U.S. Steel lost ½ and Republic ¾.

Rails were lower. Union Pacific, which has coal interests, lost 1⅝, Southern Pacific 1¼, Burlington Northern 1, Southern Railway ⅞ and Norfolk & Western ⅝. Southern and N&W are major coal haulers.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By WAT TAKESHITA

New Building Planned To House Shops And Professional Offices

A new building for retail shops and professional offices is planned at an old Texaco service station location at 1166 Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur, next to Black Oak Saloon.

Developer Donald L. Bissatini of Larkspur said he is waiting for approval from Larkspur city officials on his plans to build a two-story redwood structure featuring an interior courtyard with trees, landscaping and trellises.

"The upstairs suite will probably be professional offices and the lower section can be used as shops," said Bissatini. He plans to have about 3,000 or 4,000 square feet of floor space and offstreet parking for about 25 cars. "We'll probably have the shell of the building up next spring and, hopefully, will get tenants as we build."

POOD'S FOODS gourmet delicatessen at 209 Caledonia Street Street in Sausalito is under negotiation for a change in ownership next month, but there will be no change in employees or services.

Fred Pood, who opened the delicatessen restaurant two years ago, plans to sell the business to Omnibusiness Inc. of Sausalito, an all-woman enterprise which opened Cottage Fabrics in Sausalito and also plans an international coffee house at Kentfield Corners.

Marilyn Smith, who heads Omnibusiness, said Pood's Foods will continue to offer cheese, sandwiches and coffee, and will add a variety of soups and salads. A garden will be built in the back for outdoor dining in good weather. Omnibusiness is also applying for an on-sale beer and wine license for Pood's Foods.

If the sale goes through, Pood plans to go into the bakery business, joining the sales staff of Pine Street Bakery.

REALTORS BREAKFAST — Tomorrow morning's weekly breakfast meeting of the Marin County Board of Realtors will be another series of round table discussions on various real estate topics. The meeting starts at 8 a.m. at Holiday Inn, Northgate.

Among those conducting the round tables will be Henry Hicks, Sue Schaefer, Mildred Vail, Dave Sheldon, Bruce Shafer, Bruce Pohoriles, and Betty Blumenfeld. Subjects range from "Probates" to "How to Hold An Open House." Chairman is Gloria Kramer.

PACIFIC HOUSE oriental gifts and jewelry shop, formerly located at 727 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard next to Sight and Sound in San Anselmo, is still in business and is operating from the home of the owner, Maria Bartruff at 105 Deer Hollow Road in Sleepy Hollow.

Mrs. Bartruff said she is looking for a new location somewhere in the San Rafael-San Anselmo area. In the meantime, she is conducting her business through Post Office Box 800 in San Anselmo.

The Pacific House location was taken over last month by Honest Bob's Used Stereo.

TRADER HORN LIQUORS at 926 Diablo Avenue in Novato is in the process of sale to new owners.

William E. Schreck of San Rafael, who has operated the liquor store for three and one-half years, plans to sell the business to William J. Renauld of Ignacio. If the deal goes through, Schreck said he hopes to take it easy and has made no future plans.

CORTE MADERA FLORIST at 518-C Tamalpais Drive is celebrating its third anniversary with the addition of Teleflora Delivery Service. This added service means flowers, plants and arrangements can be ordered for delivery to nearly any spot in the world, said owner George L. Consani.

Corte Madera Florist has also introduced the finger corsage, which is made with small orchids or roses in many colors to fit any finger size and can be used for various festive occasions like Thanksgiving.

GI Benefit Hike Veto Threatened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford told the lame duck session of Congress today he would veto as inflationary a veterans bill raising benefits for Vietnam-era servicemen if it is sent to the White House in its present form.

In a message sent to Congress whie he was traveling in the Far East, Ford also asked for fast action on dozens of measures, including confirmation of Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president, a 5 per cent income tax surcharge and emergency aid for the unemployed.

Senate and majority leaders Mike Mansfield and Hugh Scott indicated Congress would accomplish virtually none of the things the President asked except for the Rockefeller confirmation.

Almost all of Ford's requests, including his 31-point economic package, had been sent to Capitol Hill earlier but they have not yet cleared the time-consuming process of debate and compromise.

Ford urged Congress to "reconsider" a veterans bill providing a 22.7 per cent increase in GI benefits retroactive to Sept. 1, 1974. He asked, instead, for an 18.2 per cent increase effective Jan. 1, 1975.

Saxbe Promises To Guard Against Excesses By FBI

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General William B. Saxbe today said most of the disruptive actions the late FBI director J. Edgar Hoover directed against domestic groups were legitimate.

"Indeed, the programs were in response to numerous public and even congressional demands for stronger action by the federal government," Saxbe said in a statement as he released a report on seven programs Hoover conducted for 15 years.

But Saxbe added, to the exrent that there were isolated excesses, "we have taken steps to prevent them from ever happening again."

Saxbe released a 21-page report of a committee headed by Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen, which said it found some of the activities conducted by FBI agents from 1956 to 1971 — when Hoover suddenly cancelled all of them — were "reprehensible in a free society."

"It won't happen again while I'm here," Saxbe said during a televised interview yesterday on (NBC's "Meet the Press").

The report — officially released today but obtained by reporters during the weekend — said records showed that each of the programs — conducted under the code name "Cointelpro" — was approved by Hoover and were used to disrupt radical organizations in this country.

The report alleged that some of the activities resembled "dirty tricks" in political campaigns and included:

Sending anonymous communications to families of individuals advising them of "immoral or radical" activities of the individual.

Leaking information to civic and religious leaders to gain their support in opposition to the targeted groups and promoting pressure on state and local governments and employers and landlords to disrupt them.

Sending out anonymous letters about suspected individuals who campaigned for election to local office.

'De-Sexing' Amendment Carries Things Too Far

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — When California voters slimly passed a constitutional amendment to "de-sex" the constitution, an unusual wrinkle was created for the state courts.

Prop. 11, passed by a margin of 44,004 votes, was aimed at eliminating all masculine words from the state constitution.

But in the process the California Judicial Council was left without a chairperson, chairman, or anyone else to head that group.

Supporters of Prop. 11 argued the measure made "no changes in substance" and only recognized that women, as much as men, have an opportunity to join the political arena.

But as "workmen" was replaced with "workers" and "congressmen" with "representatives," the backers of the amendment deleted the reference to the state Supreme Court Chief Justice as "chairman" of the council and failed to specify who would be presiding officer in his place.

"It's absolutely correct that there is no one heading the council," said Larry Briskin, who drafted the amendment. He said no changes of substance were made with the exception of the council.

John Smock, the legislative representative for the council, who worked with Briskin on the changes, said the deletion "is a real problem."

Under state law, the council's leader has broad authority over the judicial system. He is granted the power to declare a judicial emergency to institute court proceedings in time of war, insurrection or mass arrests.

Smock said existing laws empowered the "chairman" with functions "in explicit terms so that everyone knew who we were talking about."

The importance of the ommission may depend on whether it is used to nullify council actions. Smock said if the ommission were used to argue against an action, he was confident it would be "without merit" and lose.

In either case, the state printer is pressing ahead with plans to reissue the constitution with the approved "de-sexed" words.

Printer Herv Silvius said the printing within the next two years would also reflect voter approval of nine other constitutional changes.

He said the last issue of 100,000 copies cost the state $37,158.

Is Medicare enough for you?

If you're 65 or more, that's a good question. We agree, Medicare is just about the best thing going for you. But, if you want a little back-up plan—we've got one. Two in fact: Our companion plans to Medicare.

Consider our Blue Cross/65 Regular Plan, introduced eight years ago and still available to you at $4.00 a month. And, when you also consider the fact that Medicare serves over 21 million subscribers today, it must have a cut-off point somewhere—and that point may be just when you need it most.

And that's why we've introduced our new Blue Cross/65 Extra Care. It costs a little more—because you may need a little more. Extra Care provides extra benefits for hospital, physician and medical care and even helps you to pay for prescription drugs. And, you know how that can add up.

If you're 65 or over, both of these plans are well worth looking into. We designed them for you. If you're concerned about Medicare costs, turn to us! Blue Cross/65 Regular or Extra Care. Fill out the coupon or just give us a call. We'll send you the facts and that's all. No one will call on you. Promise.

Blue Cross has two plans for you: Regular at $4.00 or Extra Care, which includes prescription drugs.

Ills Don't Restrain Beverly Sills

By BLAKE A. SAMSON

The San Francisco Opera House is often the location of theatrical drama but presently a real-life drama is unfolding there. Only three weeks after an operation for a benign tumor, Beverly Sills returned to start rehearsals for the production of "Daughter of the Regiment."

In our brief meeting on her arrival Saturday at San Francisco International Airport, there was little outward sign of this latest of many troubles to befall Miss Sills. But the earlier fear of the cancer proving malignant has taken its toll, not to mention the fatigue of traveling so soon after the operation. Still, there was no doubt in her mind that the show would go on as scheduled.

Miss Sills has known much misfortune, some of it painfully ironic. Her daughter, born deaf, will never be able to hear one of the most famous coloratura sopranos of our age, her mother.

Soon after "Muffy's" birth, Miss Sills was pregnant again, only to find her new born son hopelessly retarded. After six years, she and her husband, Peter Greenough, made the painful decision to send Peter Jr. to the same institution for the retarded where Greenough's daughter by a previous marriage was placed.

BEVERLY SILLS
Sings despite all

"The first question," Sills says of the experience, "that you ask is a self-pitying 'Why me?'. Then it changes to a much bigger 'why them'?"

The troubles do not end there. A year ago, one week after being completed, she and her husband moved all their belongings into a house built in Tisbury, Mass., a small, wooded retreat on Martha's Vineyard.

She then flew out to a singing engagement, only to receive an urgent phone call from her husband. The house, along with nine others, had been burned to the ground by an arsonist. Her first words were, "Thank God; I thought something had happened to the children."

A few months later she was already talking of rebuilding the house. The loss of a career's worth of mementos didn't sadden her ("they were just things.") as long as there was work to be continued.

It is a sign of her strong loyalty to San Francisco Opera (where she made her 1953 debut) that she did not cancel this appearance. How physically strong she is, is still another question.

At our brief interview, she was much thinner and looked much better for it. The determination and flashy wit were still there, but she was not as zestful, as exhuberant as in the past. She moved more cautiously and seemed very tired. One couldn't tell whether it was just the eight-hour plane ride or the lack of recuperation, but it is plain that the recent bout with cancer has been a tremendous shock.

Miss Sills, however, is ready to work. An hour and a half after her arrival by plane, she went to rehearse. "She needn't have done that," said the opera's management, but she is still the original trooper.

"I'm looking forward to working with Hermione Gingold," she said.

Miss Gingold, who has just finished "A Little Night Music," both in San Francisco and New York, will play the Duchess of Krakenthorp opposite Miss Sills' Marie. The dialogue is being modified so that they, both natural-born comics, can have more material to play with.

"When you have an opera that has as much dialogue as "Daughter of the Regiment," you can adjust the dialogue," she Miss Sills, noting that Donizetti, the composer did.

"He wrote the opera in French but it was also performed in Italian. As it moved from country to country, he made adjustments."

Playing Marie in Houston, Sills once adjusted her dialogue to give the superbowl football scores.

"They sold out the house on a Sunday afternoon. Of course, I'm sure the men were dragged there. So every once in a while, whenever we could in the course of the dialogue, Spiro Malas and I would give the score. We would constantly devise ways of doing it. For instance, he would come out on the stage and say, "How many soldiers were killed?'

"And I would say, 'I don't know.'

" 'Well,' he would say, 'what was the score?'

"And I would say, 'Nothing to nothing, first quarter.' "

For Miss Sills, as America's leading opera star, 1976 has special importance: "We have to be very cautious about what we put on in 1976." Originally, she had hoped for a premiere of a new opera by an American composer, but that looks doubtful. The difficulty, surprisingly, is not in finding composers, but a suitable libretto.

Though on Wednesday Miss Sills will open "The Daughter of the Regiment" as planned, she will not make her usual Fol-de-Rol appearance, nor any other interviews, reserving her strength for the five performances Wednesday, Saturday, Nov. 26 and 28 and Dec. 1 (a matinee).

Like Edith Piaf, she brings to her art the courage to go on despite adversity.

Governors Ask Fight On Inflation

HILTON HEAD, S.C. (UPI) — Democratic governors, meeting in the aftermath of the Democratic triumph in the general elections, called upon Congress yesterday to begin tackling the problem of inflation immediately.

Arriving on the eve of the Democratic Governors Conference, Gov.-elect Hugh Carey of New York told reporters "The people want politics put aside and the country put back to work."

Gov. Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, chairman of the newly expanded 36-member conference and the winner of a second term for himself Nov. 5, said, "The American people made it very clear that the ball is in the Democratic court.

"I feel very strongly that in the next six weeks the Democratic leadership should pass specific bills that deal with inflation and other problems in this country," Anderson said.

Their words signalled an air of deep concern that seemed out of place in the affluent atmosphere of the conference site — a sandy playground of beaches, golf courses and tennis courts. Both Anderson and Carey, early arrivals, expressed a sense of urgency that Congress, also controlled by Democrats, had to move quickly to deal with the nation's problems of inflation and unemployment.

Genesis Gallery Has New Name, New Location And New Show

By ADA GARFINKEL

The Mill Valley Arts Guild — formerly known as the Genesis Gallery — sporting a new name, a new location, and a new opening day (Sunday) — is featuring acrylic paintings by Barbara Pierce and prints by Joyce Livingston and Phyllis Taplitz through November.

Mrs. Pierce's views of freeway offramps, interchanges, underpasses and overpasses in Marin, and some of the county's rolling countryside are painted from photographs she has taken.

Totally devoid of moving objects, several of the paintings develop into contrasts of brilliant light and cool shade and perspective views of distant skyline and water glimpsed through openings of elevated ramps and between pylons.

The paintings of landscapes are equally neat and light oriented, but whereas the architectural structures deal with flat surfaces, the contoured landscapes are seen as undulating volumes progressing plastically and usually in a diagonal direction, which adds an interesting tension to their extreme serenity.

Mrs. Pierce's smallest painting, "Arroyo" is the most complex in its depiction of time and spatial development with dusk and advancing space charted around a meandering stream.

Mrs. Livingston's newest prints include "Mask," a vivid ethnic collagraph, "Artifact II," an all-white embossed work, both with imagery relating to the Northwest Coast Indian heritage; and "Segasso," an intaglio print of a fiery dragon in raw umber and terra cotta colors. Also, a subtle, understated acrylic painting, "Got the Blues," in which veils of transparent fuchsia flow over a purple and blue cruciform shape.

There is no wood grain visible in Phyllis Taplitz's woodcuts, no actual locations in her quasi-landscapes — except perhaps for "Mt. Tam" — and no boats beneath her rollicking sails.

Instead, what she gives you are rich and velvety modulations of full-bodied colors — red grading to deep purplish-blue, for example, and slender red trees lifting upward like ballet dancers in a processional march, or a cerise-colored mountain peak outlining a clear blue sky into the gentle curves of a human form.

With a complete change of new works by other gallery artists, an interested observer might note Frank Scheuler's figurative wood sculpture, Matilda Franz' woven wall-hanging, Kay Works' watercolor "Saw-Grass," David Knoecklein's oil pastels "Tomales Bay" and "Sausalito," Kay Cousinean's heavily-textured oil painting "Kaiulani," and Barbara Melichar's untitled woodsy collage.

This show will continue through Nov. 30, and may be seen on weekdays from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday. The Mill Valley Arts Guild is located at 158 E. Blithedale Avenue.

Scientists Discover New Atomic Particle

STANFORD (UPI) — Scientists announced this weekend the discovery of a new kind of atomic particle with a longer life than any previously found.

"This is one of the biggest discoveries in high energy physics in years anywhere in the world," a spokesman for Stanford University said.

The particle was discovered accidentally at almost the same time by scientists working at Stanford's Linear Accelerator Center and the Brookhaven National Laboratory in Upton, N.Y.

Burton Richter, head of the Stanford team, said the particle is "different from all the other particles we know. It lives 100,000 times longer than any other particle, and therefore must have a new kind of structure holding it together."

Scientists at both Stanford and Brookhaven said dozens of theoretical physicists were dropping their current projects to work on the implications of the new find.

The particle was expected to fill in a basic gap in knowledge of the fundamental structure of matter. Its existence may explain numerous phenomena which do not fit present theories.

Richter and Samuel C.C. Ting, head of the Brookhaven team, said in a joint statement that the suddenness of the discovery was what made it so exciting.

Both groups of scientists said the new particle occurred at an energy level of just above three billion electron volts.

They said the particle decays into other heavy particles in one hundred billionth of a billionth of a second. On a nuclear time scale, this is a remarkably long life.

This suggests that the particle has some novel, not yet understood properties which prevent it from decaying in a much shorter time.

"The theorists are working frantically to fit it into the framework of our present knowledge of the elementary particle," the two men said in their statement.

"We experimenters hope to keep them busy for some time to come."

ACT Show Fast, Furious, Funny

By BLAKE A. SAMSON

SAN FRANCISCO — The ACT production of "Something's Afoot" is a razzle-dazzle, compact, immensely entertaining musical farce based on Agatha Christie's "Ten Little Indians" (or "Then There Was None.")

It unfolds in a frazzling pace to the accompaniment of great melodramatic sound effects, orchestrated cowbells, whistles, honks and whatnots and the whodunit is full of quick, inventive sight gags. It really is a gas of a show!

Seven houseguests and three servants find themselves trapped in Lord Rancour's country retreat after a storm washes away all means of escape. Richard Seger's manor house set is better than many houses but, one by one, the guests are murdered. Hardly a relaxing weekend. The bodies are carted off to the library as the mystery and the hilarity grow: "If you want me, I'll be under the bed."

"SOMETHING'S AFOOT", a musical mystery spoof in two acts, book, music and lyrics by James McDonald, David Vos, and Robert Gerlach; directed by Tony Tanner; sets by Richard Seger; costumes by Walter Watson; lighting by Fred Kopp. The cast: Clive, Douglas Broyles; Lettie, Pamela Myers; Flint, Darryl Ferrera; Hope Langdon, Barbara Heuman; Dr. Grayburn, Jack Schmidt; Nigel Rancour, Gary Beach; Lady Grace, Liz Sheridan; Col. Gilliweather, Gary Gage; Miss Tweed, Lu Leonard; Geoffrey, Willard Beckham. The Marines' Memorial Theater, 609 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

Rarely does a show have such an effective opening. The guests arrive to the song, "A Marvelous Weekend", a rapid-fire introduction. There's Dr. Grayson, a 1930's golfer; Hope Langdon, a highclass debutante; Lady Grace, a past-her-prime social climber; Col. Gilliweather, a highly decorated boob who is still fighting the Boer War; Nigel Rancour, a Clark Gable type, and Miss Tweed, a roly-poly Agatha Christie-Sherlock Holmes cross-breed.

There is also Geoffrey, the third oarsman of an Oxford crew who gets washed into the party by the storm. He is played by Willard Beckham with pizazz and has a rich baritone voice, the best in the cast.

Lu Leonard, as Tweed, the artist-sleuth, may not be a replacement for Margaret Rutherford, but she is lively, a happy, funny soul who sings passably and entertains largely. She is one of the show's strongest supports. Her song "Suspicious" may do nothing to move the plot but her imitation of a toreador-torch song is pure pleasure.

Another support is the show's great wit and firecracker pace. The gags, props and costume changes spill out at us and Tony Tanner's stage blocking is exemplary. One move sets up another without artifice and the whole mass spins out quickly, fluidly, capriciously. It is a very tight show.

Saturday's high points are the songs "The Man With the Ginger Moustache," upon Col. Gilliweather's death; "The Legal Heir," Nigel's almost insane search for the family will; and "I Owe It All", a straw-hat romp in honor of Agatha Christie, Sherlock Holmes and other mystery writers.

While Nigel is searching for the will, Lady Grace is to detain all the guests down stairs. Col. Gilliweather is just as intent on going upstairs to bed and Lady Grace runs out of ways to detain him. He is an old beau of hers and just when he approaches the top landing, she in desperation screams. "There was a child!" The line brings the house donw.

Gary Gage plays Col. Gilliweather, this balding, strutting anachronism, marvelously and Gary Beach's dancing (as Nigel) is in the best of Broadway's style, fast, catchy and showy.

Unfortunately, Pamela Myers as Lettie, the Cockney maid, is less than satisfactory. If she had let out one more painful shriek, the audience might have left.

The show probably will go toNew York, should play in a medium size theater like the Martin Beck and do very well. Here, at the Marine's Memorial Theater, it is cramped. This makes it, at first, a bit too strong, too loud, too pushy, but one adjusts quickly and from then on, there's hardly a dull moment.

The show is full of New York actors, which seems a bit unfair to local San Francisco talent, but ACT has quite a successful vehicle. I laughed until it hurt.

The show will run a limited engagement at the Marines' Memorial Theater, 609 Sutter Street, San Francisco. Tuesday through Friday, it starts at 8:30 p.m. and on Saturday at 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. There is also a Sunday matinee at 3 p.m.

New Act Would Open Colleges' Confidential Files To Students

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The Family Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, a little publicized law passed by Congress, takes effect tomorrow, much to the displeasure of American colleges and universities.

Under it, college students will for the first time have the right to see their own files, including confidential documents previously available only to school officials. Parents of elementary and secondary school students have the same right, with regard to their children's records.

The law slipped almost unnoticed through the 93rd Congress, which is still in session, and its impact on educational record-keeping at elementary and secondary schools and colleges was not felt until well after it was signed into law in August.

University administrators say the new law will have derogatory effect on admissions practices which rely on candid appraisals of potential students. Faculty members also have opposed the law, arguing they will be unable to write frank evaluations if the letters are eventually to be read by the students.

Some university officials complain they have received inadequate guidance from federal authorities, making it difficult for them to understand or cope with the requirements of the new law.

"Boston University is going on the assumption that everything in the files that was kept confidential before the law takes effect will remain confidential after tomorrow," said BU spokesman Jack Starr.

Northeastern University officials late last week said they had decided to hold up all student requests for access to records prior to receiving regulations from the U.S. Office of Education.

But no such regulations appeared forthcoming.

"We have nothing to say at this time about the law," said a spokesman for Health, Education, and Welfare Secretary Casper Weinberger. HEW officials said Thursday they will monitor implementation of the law, but do not expect to take an active role in enforcing it.

A spokesmen for the Office of Education said late last week that in the absence of federal regulations, "universities will have to rely upon their own interpretations of the law for guidance."

Harvard University officials last week admitted removing confidential information from school records to avoid releasing documents to students. Harvard is now being challenged by three students who have filed requests to see their records, and who claim the removal of information is illegal, "violating the spirit and intent" of the law.

Prince Escapes Injury In Crash

CLOCAENOG, Wales (UPI) — Prince Michael of Kent, a 32-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth, narrowly escaped injury yesterday when his car rolled over during the International Auto Rally of Britain.

The car's windshield was shattered and its body badly dented in the accident, along a curve on a gravel road near this Welsh village. Co-driver Nigel Clarkson also was uninjured.

"It was my fault entirely," the prince said. "I went into a corner too fast. But we're pressing on and just hoping to finish."

Jaycees Ban On Women Members Upheld

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today let stand a ruling that the U.S. Jaycees may continue barring women from membership although it has tax-exempt status and receives federal funds.

In a brief order, the Court declined to hear appeals challenging the men-only membership rules of Jaycee chapters throughout the country. Chapters in Rochester, N.Y., and Philadelphia were expelled from the national organization after they voted to admit women.

Those two chapters brought suit in Oklahoma, where national Jaycee headquarters is located, contending that the organization should either admit women or start paying taxes and be cut off from federal funds.

In other actions today:

Agreed to decide whether California's obscenity law confirms to standards the high Court established in 1973. It also directed a lower court to take another look at a Wisconsin obscenity conviction under a state law since amended to conform with the Court's standards.

Dismissed a challenge to state laws which bar suspended sentences or probation to convicted drug peddlers.

Let stand a decision that a 1955 law renders unenforceable by either party any oral contracts with the federal government.

Agreed to decide if fixed commission rates for stockbrokers on the nation's two largest stock exchanges violate antitrust laws or are properly regulated by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The suit against the Jaycees was dismissed in district court on grounds the organization was not using federal money to discriminate when devoting it to drug rehabilitation programs, prevention of child abuse and other projects.

The district court held there was not enough "state action" or involvement to force an end to discrimination. The 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals agreed.

Recent Supreme Court cases have held that the government must be significantly involved in regulating or financing a private operation before the operation is required to practice racial or sex nondiscrimination.

The expelled Jaycee chapters argued that women were beating denied the opportunity for administrative experience and that the Jaycees were given control over $985,000 in federal funds in 1972, creating a sufficient federal involvement to void discriminatory practices.

The courts have not been unanimous in their decisions on Jaycee sex discrimination. A New York City federal court ruled in favor of the local chapter and forbade the national officers from expelling that chapter when it admitted women.

That case has been appealed to the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals.

Court Lets Welfare Ruling Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today let stand a California Supreme Court decision striking down a portion of state welfare laws which trimmed payments to needy children living with relatives not on welfare or with parents who are also on welfare.

The justices declined to hear the state's appeal of two cases.

The state supreme court held that welfare laws can't assume a relative is housing needy children merely as a gift without expecting some form of rent. In a comparison case, the state court held that sharing a house with an adult, even a parent, on welfare should not reduce payments to the child.

Under California's 1971 flat grant welfare law, aid for dependent children benefits are based on the number of children in a family. But the law requires deductions based on a set formula for children living with non-needy relatives such as grandparents.

Relatives in three families providing housing to needy children plus the California Welfare Rights Organization, challenged the law on grounds that it assumed relatives were making a gift of their homes and not expecting a form of rental payment, at least through control of spending the welfare checks.

The relatives also contended that children living with relatives were discriminated against since they received less than those living with their parents.

California said that federal law subsidizing state welfare programs was aimed at cutting benefits in proportion to aid received from other sources.

SHE HAS A LIFE TO LIVE, TOO

All Lose When Mother's A Martyr

By BETTY FROST

"I'd like to take a walk along the beach this morning, but I can't go until I've done the breakfast dishes and straightened the house."

"I'd sign up for that art course, except it would mean dinner would be late and my husband wouldn't like it."

"If I didn't have to take my daughter to dancing class, I'd love to go to the concert with you. Why does everything happen on Thursday?"

Do any of the above sound familiar to you? Then you are probably a woman who would enjoy meeting Clare Berkowitz of Sausalito.

First, Mrs. Berkowitz found her own way of of a woman's role of service and the entrapment it often means. Now she is extending a hand to other women, helping them reexamine their traditional life styles.

Her vehicle to self-examination has been the theory of transactional analysis, formulated by the late Dr. Eric Berne. Mrs. Berkowitz's present platform is as an instructor in the Outreach Program, given under the auspices of the Marin Association of Mental Health. Each Tuesday from noon to 2 p.m. she guides a group exploring the topic, "How to be a Good Parent to Yourself" at the South Marin Community Mental Health Center in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Berkowitz modeled her own life on that of her mother. The older woman had been responsible, hard-working, sacrificing for her children. She would up a bitter woman, trying vainly to live through her children.

When she realized that she had modeled herself after a woman who was a martyr, and that she was making her family unhappy, Mrs. Berkowitz gradually learned that "it was okay to enjoy life."

CLARE BERKOWITZ
Exploring woman's role

Married 28 years to Sid Berkowitz, an educator with the Detroit, Mich., Board of Education, Mrs. Berokwitz came to realize that "I was dropping a lot of blame on him."

Because of her own orientation to a woman's supportive role, she thought her husband was standing her way.

"Actually he wasn't stopping me from doing anything. It is all right for a woman to respect her own needs," she said.

When she began studying transactional analysis five years ago, she noticed that since she was feeling better, the change in her children, a son now 20, and a daughter, 19, was dramatic. The whole family enjoyed a better relationship.

In the weekly sessions at Outreach, where she is working with women from 30 to 50, the women discuss the goals they hope to achieve during the course. Like most women with our cultural background they have accepted the precepts that say "a woman must work hard, take care of others and be unselfish." Any deviation from such impossibly high standards brings guilt.

Gradually they learn that it is "all right to fill your own cup. When their own lives are happier, there is a payoff for the people they love, too. Since the wife and mother no longer feels trapped, she is more delightful to be around," Mrs. Berkowitz explained.

"Women are inclined to sit at home and wait and wish. They don't realize that by using their magical will power they can be their own Santa Claus," she continued.

A graduate of Wayne State University in Detroit, Mrs. Berowitz was attending courses at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor when she learned about the Berne psychotherapy method. She spent two summers attending sessions at the Western Institute for Group and Family Therapy in Watsonville, Monterey County.

Mrs. Berkowitz found that she liked California, and particularly Marin, and that there were opportunities in her field in this area.

She and her husband are taking a sort of "sabbatical year," with Mrs. Berkowitz here and Berkowitz on leave from his work, remaining in Detroit for a year of study.

Of a recent trip home, Mrs. Berkowitz said, "It was quality time. We are not making long-range plans. We expect to each enjoy the year and then see what happens in June."

What about their friends of long standing?

"We have lovely friends who care about us. They are observing with interest, love and curiosity. Because of what we are doing, some have taken another look at their own lives."

Recognition Is Nothing New To 4-H Citizenship Winner

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

Margaret Leali, a vivacious 17-year-old Tomales High School senior, is a girl on the run. And she probably won't slow down until the school's Christmas break.

On Nov. 28, she'll leave for Chicago to attend the national 4-H Club convention, where she'll receive the club's national citizenship award which carries a $600 college scholarship.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Egidio Leali, operators of a dairy ranch, Margaret admits being "plenty excited" about the honor and the all-expense paid trip. But it was obvious recognition is nothing new to her as she described the many 4-H projects that launched her on her way to the national honor.

Last year she was the Marin County citizenship winner, earning a trip to Washington, D.C., and is also a member of the 4-H All-Stars for outstanding work.

The Tomales student was recommended by the state 4-H Club for consideration for the honor and was chosen by a national committee which reviewed 15-page scrapbooks from the 50 state finalists on their work in 4-H, with special emphasis in the citizenship field.

Sitting in the wood-paneled living room of the family residence — a comfortable stucco and brick-trimmed ranch-style home on Cerini Road in the gentle sloping hills near Tomales — Margaret, a nine-year member of 4-H, said "citizenship to me means helping the less fortunate, especially the handicapped. She said she got interested helping others when her sister, Janet, now 15, had heart surgery and a long convalescent period.

Among the things she's accomplished — spearheading a $1,600 fund drive for purchase of an electric wheelchair for a West Marin youth suffering from cerebral palsy, helping to collect over 40,000 Betty Crocker coupons for purchase of a kidney machine for another youngster and rounding up funds to buy a television set for another bedridden patient.

During the past couple of years she's also found time to work as a Candy Striper at Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma, make puppets for childrens' wards in Bay Area hospitals, prepare special programs for St. Anthony's Farm, near Tomales, which has a voluntary program for alcoholics, and do volunteer work at the Tomales Catholic Church.

And she's not idle at Tomales High. She is president of the school's 4-H club, a member of the Future Farmers of America, vice president of her senior class, a member of the band, a cheerleader and active in the Girls Athletic Association. On top of this she maintains a B average in school work.

Presently Margaret hasn't decided about college, but admits if she wants to pursue a career working with the handicappd or underprivileged, she'll probably have to get a dgree.

And Mrs. Leali, who looked on proudly as Margaret showed her neatly kept scrapbooks and talked about her sister, who is also engaged in 4-H work, is equally thrilled about her daughter's honor.

"I'd like to be going, too, but they didn't ask me," she said as she showed off Margaret's doll collection — neatly housed in a built-in glass case in entrance hall — and Janet's many candles which dominate the girls' cheerfully decorated white and red bedroom.

While Margaret's honor represents the best in the 50 states and the third time a Marin 4-H member has received national recognition, other county club members recently received state honors. They were Linda Davis, Novato Valley, second in home management and Gabrielle Melson, Novato Aggies, sixth in home environment.

Winning regional honors — Marin to the Oregon border — were Connie Jones, Novato Stars, second place in achievement; Kim Hinerman of the VIPs, second in breads; Elisa Murphy, Marin Mounted, second in horsemanship; Robert Gambonini, Nicasio, second place in beef; David Munton, Ross Valley, second plce in aviation and aerospace, and Denna Moreda, Nicasio, third place in dairy.

Ross Valley Players Performance Will Benefit Victim Of Leukemia

On Saturday evening the Ross Valley Players will perform in the Neil Simon comedy, "Prisoner of Second Avenue." The audience that night will not only be entertained, they will be supporting one young woman's personal fight to find a cure for leukemia.

Since September, Suzie Herschend of Sausalito has been going door to door throughout the county in an effort to sell 300 seats to the Art and Garden Center-located performance. It is, she says, a memorial to her brother who died 10 years ago at the age of eight. "I just got the urge," she said of her fund-raising efforts. "I had to do something to raise money for research."

Miss Herschend hopes to raise about $600. The money, she adds, will not "sit in someone's drawer. I'm trying to find out where people do research and send it directly to them."

The 21-year-old woman who is training as a geriatrics aide through the Regional Occupational Center has discovered that fund-raising isn't an easy task. In June she purchases 275 of the 300 seats available in the theater and to date, only 71 persons have bought the $3 tickets.

"I don't want it to be a mourning. All I want to do is get a feeling across," she said.

Included at the 8:30 p.m. performance will be champagne and soft drinks. Tickets may be reserved through the Art and Garden box office or the Leukemia Society in San Francisco.

Whether or not her first fund-raising effort succeeds, Miss Herschend vows she will continue to work "until they find a cure."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Good Neighbor Feels Children More Important Than Grass

DEAR HELEN:

It's sad and tragic that so many people feel as they do about neighbor children, resenting and suspecting them constantly.

We are in our mid-40s and childless. Four years ago we bought a new home in a young neighborhood, but couldn't move in right away, so it stood empty for a year. When we finally arrived, we noticed a well-worn path between the driveway, throgh our back yard, to the split-rail fence and gate that opened on to the next street. It was simple to deduce that our property was a woodsy shortcut for neighborhood kids.

For the next few days, I watched the little ones from our window, and waved and smiled when they saw me. After school, a 9-year-old rang the doorbell and introduced herself, shyly welcoming us to the area. She asked if we had children, and I told her "No," but we loved kids, dogs, noise, tree houses, snowmen, and anything else that meant life and fun was going on. I went outside with her and helped her open up the creaking gate so her friends wouldn't have to climb the fence.

Word spread like wildfire. Other kids stopped and asked permission to use the shortcut. This was followed by welcoming calls from the grownups. Even the teen-agers got the word that we were okay. They all stopped by to visit and help us out when needed.

The path remains and it is now lovingly marked with a little sign that says, "Chipmunk Crossing." The lawn can grow later. Right now, children are growing and they are so much more important than grass!

And they're lots more fun. — DODIE W.

DEAR DODIE:

Welcome to the Good Neighbor Club. You should be sitting in the front row! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

It's pretty well agreed that cigarettes and liquor are harmful if overdone. But we discovered through "Prohibition" that outlawing them isn't the answer. So why not do as the Arabs did with oil? Make the prices so high that people will have to cut down? By taxes, I mean.

Here's my proposal: quadruple (or more) the taxes on tobacco and booze, and use a fair share of the revenue on health rehabilitation programs related to drinking and smoking.

After all, we use our gasoline taxes to build highways. Taxes on tobacco and liquor (even at present rates they amount to over $7 billion a year) should be used for those who pay them; but instead, the government spends only about $25 million inaid for alcoholics — and practically nothing for "cigarette cripples."

What the big tax wouldn't eliminate (by making teetotalers more popular), it would at least alleviate (by curing lushes and chain smokers, or finding better cures for liver trouble, emphysema, lung cancer, etc) — MODEST PROPOSER

DEAR M.P.:

Your proposal will draw screams of anguish from users . . . But it's worth airing. Have you sent it on to your Congressman? — H.

Program Set In Medical Gymnastics

The Young Women's Christian Association is offering an on-going program of T'ai-Chi Ch'uan, a 2,000-year-old Chinese tradition of medical gymnastics. Ed Dunmire of Mill Valley is the instructor.

A two-hour workout is held at the YWCA, 1618 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, Saturdays from 9 to 11 a.m. with Dunmire present to assist in any particular problems or to answer questions on the program. A $1 donation is asked of Saturday morning participants, proceeds of which will be used toward a food fund for the "starving millions of the world," according to Chris Goodwin, educational director at the YWCA.

The one-and-a-half hour classes may be scheduled according to individual needs. Cost is $2.50 per class.

T'ai-Chi Ch'uan, according to Dummire, "revitalizes the body and sharpens mental acuities so that we may become instruments of our will." The slow, dance-like set comprises a continuously changing pattern of postures linked by gentle stretching motions, he said, and training consists of several aspects: medical exercises, exercise, meditation postures, and push-hands, an exercise done with a partner to explore the fundamental nature of energy flows.

Now's Time To Cut Christmas Bills

By ROBERT EDWARDS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Looking at families' debt problems, as I do, I see many who struggle all year to catch up with January bills piled up during the holiday season.

Now is the time to consider alternatives — not in January when the bills arrive. It's too late to do much then. Also, many breadwinners face an actual decrease in dollar take-home pay beginning with the first paycheck in January. If earnings reached the maximum subject to social-security withholding earlier in 1974, that bite will begin again.

WHEN YOU LOOK at alternatives for giving and sharing Christmas, consider these double-thrust ideas — double because they save dollars and boost spirits:

Put more of yourself into Christmas by trading resources — time, effort, and talent for money. You increase your fun and your income when you personalize your giving by doing it yourself — making your own Christmas cards, for example. You'll find that you're likely to pare your card list to those close friends you will not be seeing during the holidays — out-of-towners, mainly. To people you see, extend a personal greeting and let it go at that.

Do-it-yourself skills help relieve other spending pressures, too. If you plan to fill gift packages with clothes for family members, sew them yourself. Make stuffed toys for children; knit one of the new long scarves for a friend. Patterns and plans for easy-to-make gifts overflow from idea books and magazines available well ahead of the holiday season. Children can tie macrame crafts and make gifts from wood and metal following plans in such magazines as Popular Mechanics.

LIMIT SPENDING to your cash resources when buying gifts. The gift you buy with cash won't cost more later when finance charges are added to the price you paid. If you do charge gifts, keep a separate running total. No clear signal sounds or flashes when you run out of credit, but you know immediately when your cash is gone. Part of a post-spending problem stems from not knowing how far out the credit limb you may have climbed.

Count the pleasure of the receiver as more important than the amount you spend.

PLAN AHEAD for those gifts you will be selecting, then shop around while there's still time to compare and judge both value and price. Gifts bought at the last minute are likely to cost more than the planned-and shopped-for purchase. Many sharp shoppers have already bought gifts at special sales throughout the year and hidden them away.

Don't turn buying into a contest to outdo a relative's family — or the neighbor's — or last year. Giving should remain a private affair. Develop your personal plan for spending — one you can live with and is uniquely yours rather than one competing with others.

Pick The Right Refrigerator

Select a model refrigerator that will meet both your family's present and anticipated future storage needs.

A refrigerator freezer, known as a combination refrigerator is a wise buy if your family shops at least once a week or has no separate freezer, according to home economists for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

The added convenience of a frost free model must be weighed against the extra cost for more electric power.

I-J OFFERS GUIDE FOR PRESS CHAIRMEN

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

A Joyous Reunion At San Quentin

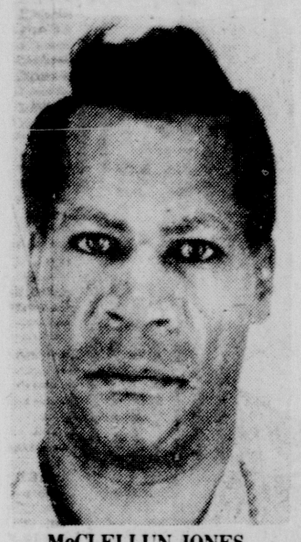
Mother Visits The Son She Lost 30 Years Ago

By LEW CODDINGTON

On her way to the prison she walked slowly and cautiously, carrying 74 years on a small, slender frame. Her face was expressionless. There was nothing in her manner to tell passersby she was in the midst of an intense journey.

But on her way back a day later, she was described as "delighted" and "floating on air," laughing and joking with the San Quentin chaplain who escorted her during her visit.

Virginia White came from Dallas, Tex., to San Quentin Prison Saturday afternoon to see her son, McClellun Jones, whom she had not seen or heard from in almost 30 years. She visited for an hour Saturday and an hour and a half yesterday before boarding a plane back to Dallas yesterday afternoon, according to prison officials.



McCLELLUN JONES
Sees his mother

On her arrival, she was gripped by mixed emotions. "I'm glad — and I'm sorry too," she said as she approached the grimly famous prison that housed her long-lost son.

Afterwards, Chaplain Harry Howard used the word "delighted" to describe Mrs. White and Evelyn Weathersby, 51, Mrs. White's daughter, who accompanied her on the trip. "Both of them were floating on air," he said.

Jones, 50, said he plans to return to Dallas and live with his mother when he is released from prison, Howard said.

For nearly 30 years, ever since that day in late 1945 or early 1946 when Jones flaunted his nascent manhood by walking out the door, Mrs. White did not hear from him.

"I would wonder where was he, and was he alive?" Mrs. White said. "I just didn't know if I would get to see him again. I didn't know how to locate him."

Once, there was a rumor. "A boy came back to Texas, and said he was in Los Angeles," said Mrs. Weathersby, 51.

Why did he leave? "You know how young boys is," said Mrs. Weathersby, shaking her head. "They get wild. They just want to go."

With no money in his pockets, probably using his thumb for transportation, McClellun Jones came to the Golden State. Almost immediately, in 1946, he was imprisoned for lewd and lascivious behavior, and his sentence was later lengthened for assaulting a guard in 1948. He has been in prison ever since.

Jones attempted to write several times, Chaplain Howard said, but finally gave up in frustration as his letters kept coming back. The White house in Dallas was torn down for a freeway, and there was no forwarding address.

For all that time, Mrs. White lived in the same twilight world thousands of Americans have come to know lately as close kin of prisoners of war. Not knowing, and not knowing if she would ever know, Mrs. White went ahead with her day-to-day life.

Suddenly, a phone call. City government officials in Dallas had a letter from Jones, who was trying to locate his mother. Though she had moved since her son had left, Dallas Action Center volunteers tracked her down within 24 hours.

That was Oct. 20. They exchanged three or four letters in the meantime. Action Center volunteers, meanwhile, raised $300 to send Mrs. White and Mrs. Weathersby to California. Contributions came from Dallas citizens and an anonymous Memphis, Tenn., contractor.

The result was Virginia White's first plane ride at the age of 74, a sweet and bitter journey across space and time.

"Whew," she exclaimed Saturday, smiling broadly at the recollection of the letter. "I cried like a baby."

Turning away, she passed through the iron gates, disappearing behind the walls that had so long ago swallowed her son.

PRISON VISIT — Virginia White (right) and Evelyn Weathersby pause outside San Quentin Saturday before entering the prison to visit McClellun Jones, Mrs. White's son, whom the 74-year-old woman had not seen in almost 30 years. Mrs. White and Mrs. Weathersby flew out from Dallas, Tex. after citizens contributed $300 to finance the trip.

Open Space Bonds Total $7.2 Million

Marin County voters so far have authorized $7.2 million worth of open space acquisition bonds, county auditor-controller Michael Mitchell has reported.

Mitchell's figure does not include $1.4 million appropriated for open space by county supervisors and the county open space district.

The auditor-controller also released the monthly costs of open space bonds for homeowners based on the average value of a home in the city or district approving the bond.

Lowest is in San Rafael, where the owner of a $47,200 home pays 51 cents per month on a $2,250,000 open space bond.

Highest is in the Homestead Valley County Service Area, where the owner of a $39,300 home pays $3.37 per month on a $600,000 bond.

The owner of a $57,400 home in the Lucas Valley County Service Area pays $3.05 per month on a $315,000 bond, while the owner of a $64,200 home in Tiburon pays $2.62 per month for that city's $1,250,000 bond.

In the Marinwood Community Services District, the owner of a $41,900 home pays $2.76 per month on a $600,000 bond for open space.

Mitchell also estimated the monthly costs for four other areas which have approved bonds that have not been sold yet.

In the Greenbrae-Kentfield County Service Area the owner of a $64,900 home can expect to pay about $1.27 per month on an $850,000 bond, while in the Santa Venetia County Service Area the owner of a $36,000 home will pay about $1.33 per month on a $500,000 bond.

The Strawberry Recreation District's $500,000 bond will cost the owner of a $56,500 home about $2.99 per month and in the Loma Verde County Service Area the owner of a $40,000 home will pay about $3.14 per month for its $350,000 bond.

Landscaping Terms On Tap

Terms of a contract to be signed with a landscape architect for designing plantings in the Miller Avenue improvement project will be discussed by the Mill Valley City Council today at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Earlier this month, the council decided to hire architect Ralph Alexander at a cost of $3,300 to do that job and another for Camino Alto median strips.

At the time Councilman Jean S. Barnard objected that the city should stop hiring professionals to draw up extensive plans for traffic and landscaping for projects that require only simple approaches. She urged that Alexander's contract be specific about when the job should be done and what he is supposed to do.

Water Board To Look To The Future

Marin Municipal Water District directors will consider how in-county water supply can meet future needs at a workshop at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the district office, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera.

Directors will discuss how water conservation, waste water reclamation and natural water sources will fit into a total future water supply program for the district, according to Gen. Mgr. J. Dietrich Stroeh.

The district is planning a comprehensive program to make more efficient use of the in-county water supply by reclaiming waste water for irrigation, setting up water conserving projects and making greater use of natural water sources, possibly through new reservoirs, Stroeh said.

The workshop will culminate a series of earlier sessions on water reclamation, desalinization, conserving methods and water quality.

Two E. Bay Men Drown As Wave Washes Over Point Bonita Ledge

A huge wave crashed into a rocky ledge at Point Bonita yesterday, drowning two East Bay men who were members of a nine-man fishing party in the area.

A third man — who jumped into the water to try to rescue his friends — was pulled to safety by lines dropped from a 200-foot cliff.

A Coast Guard helicopter recovered the bodies of Kenneth John Cahill, 25, of San Leandro, and 21-year-old Mike LaMore of Oakland.

Their would-be rescuer, Cornelius Walsh, 20, of Hayward, was pulled to safety in good condition.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the group was fishing on a rocky ledge at Bonita Cove when the massive "sleeper" wave rushed in and swept the two from their perch, at about 10:45 a.m.

Two other men who jumped into the waves in unsuccessful rescue attempts made it to shore under their own power.

The bodies were located about two hours after the accident, by the helicopter, which made low sweeps over the turbulent ocean, at times no more than a few feet above the water.

Civic Center Site To Be Discussed

The Novato City Council will consider purchase of additional property for expansion of Novato's civic center at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Grace Lutheran Church, 1787 Grant Avenue.

After the council authorized purchase of a parcel last week, it was advised that those opposing expansion at the present site plan to circulate a petition for a referendum on the civic center location in March.

Illegal Kappas Bay Fill May Be Ordered Removed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Illegal bay fill at Kappas Yacht Harbor will be ordered removed unless the Bay Conservation and Development Commission approves it, the commission's staff reported today.

A cease and desist order directing Kappas to apply for retroactive approval or to remove the fill will be considered by the commission at its next meeting, 1:30 Dec. 5 in Room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

Alan R. Pendleton, staff counsel for the commission, said some 3,400 cubic yards of illegal fill is involved. He said the staff has not made a recommendation on whether the fill should be approved by the commission, but added he knew of "no reason that would justify it."

A commission hearing would give Kappas a chance to explain his claim that the extra fill was needed for public access to the shoreline, Pendleton said. If the commission turns Kappas down, Pendleton said, the illegal fill would have to be removed.

The staff cautioned last month that it may be too much of a pollution hazard to remove the fill, but Pendleton said it had been found the hazard would be minimal if the fill were removed properly.

The fill was dumped at the harbor just north of Sausalito as part of other work to upgrade the area to conform with sanitary and building codes. The county public works department has halted further filling on the project pending the commission's decision or what to do about it.

Pendleton said the fill is 20 to 30 feet wider than approved in the commission permit. It runs some 400 feet along the bay's edge.

Also at issue was excess fill put on a road into the harbor, but Pendleton said the commission staff had decided not to dispute this fill, even though it was more than allowed by the permit the commission approved for the work.

Jack In Box Gun Puller Is Arrested

A 20-year-old San Rafael woman was arrested on suspicion of a variety of crimes early yesterday after she pulled a gun and ordered a San Rafael hamburger outlet clerk to put cream and sugar in her coffee.

Pamela Jane Colnett of 530 Canal Street, Apt. 6, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon, threatening with a weapon, possession of a weapon by a narcotics addict, possession of an illegal weapon and possession of dangerous drugs. She posted $2,500 bail to appear Thursday in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said she appeared at the Jack In The Box restaurant at 1814 Second Street about 3:25 a.m. yesterday, and became irate when a clerk did not mix packets of cream and sugar into her coffee. She pulled a gun and ordered the clerk to pour the packets into her coffee, and then drove away in a car, according to police.

Police stopped her and said they found a gun in her car. A search produced 63 pills believed to be "minibennies," police said.

Marinite, 16, Wins Chess Tournament

He was undefeated Saturday in three rounds of play against seven seasoned chess experts from as far away as Maryland, according to Jerry Frazier of San Rafael, president of the sponsoring Redwood Empire Chess Association. A total of 22 players in all classes competed.

Narcotics Bureau Is Before Board

Marin County supervisors tomorrow will consider whether to seek a $186,000 federal grant for a new countywide narcotics bureau.

The matter was placed before the board after the San Rafael City Council decided — amid heated debate — to drop its plans to create such an agency.

Marin County Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos has urged the board to consider a county-run narcotics squad. As it stands, San Rafael's application for the federal funds will expire early next month unless county supervisors agree to become the sponsoring agency.

Supervisors, meeting at 9:45 a.m. at Civic Center, also will consider whether to assume control of 13 state-owned cabins at Steep Ravine near Stinson Beach. The cabins, which command spectacular views of the Pacific, for many years have been leased by the state to influential Bay Area residents. The state now wants them destroyed.

Supervisors will meet as an open space district board at 8:30 a.m.

Boat Owner Rescued By Coast Guard

I-J Special Report

SANTA CRUZ — A Sausalito man was rescued from a life raft bobbing in the ocean off Santa Cruz late last night after his fishing boat hit a log and sank.

Cass Gidley was rescued by a Coast Guard helicopter at about 10 p.m. last night, about one hour after his 40-foot fishing boat, Wayfarer II, struck a floating log and sank.

According to a Coast Guard spokesman, the boat was worth $40,000.

He was making his way south from Sausalito to albacore fishing grounds near San Diego, the spokesman said.

Property Worth $1,320 Stolen

Some $1,320 worth of personal property was stolen Friday from the Sycamore Avenue home of a Larkspur woman, according to police reports.

Police said a $420 color television set and a $900 diamond ring were stolen by a burglar who apparently pried open a sliding glass door with a screwdriver.

Name and address of the victim were withheld on standing order from the Larkspur City Council.

Bond Issue Wording To Be Discussed

The Corte Madera Town Council will discuss the wording of its planned open space bond issue when it meets today at 7:30 p.m. at town hall. Deadline for placing the issue on the March 4 ballot is Dec. 4.

The council also will meet in closed session to appoint a successor to planning commission Chairman James W. McClintock, whose resignation was requested by the council and received Nov. 7.

BART Won't Run On Week-Ends Because Transit Union Says 'No'

It was scarcely regarded as "the story of the day" in San Francisco — one of the three cities most affected. It carried a small headline on page 3 of the morning paper which dominates that city. But a story last Friday had a message for those who look to public transit systems to help solve our traffic and energy ills, and for those who think it would be just dandy to have the union shop in all public employment.

The story was that publicly owned Bay Area Rapid Transit will not provide weekend service during the Christmas shopping season, as requested by merchants of San Francisco, Oakland, and Berkeley. It will remain on a five-day week.

The reason: Local 1555, Amalgamated Transit Union, says "no."

Even temporary expansion of service to week ends would be a "flagrant violation" of the union's contract, said Henry White, Local 1555 president, at a meeting of BART directors.

So that's that.

UNDER CALIFORNIA law, exclusive union contracts are not permitted in public employment. But there are exceptions. One exception is for transit districts. Therefore, both BART and the Golden Gate Bridge District have exclusive contracts with unions. And in both BART and the bridge district, this gives the union bosses considerable control over what service can be provided by the publicly owned and financed utilities.

When the bridge district went into bus operation, it took over contracts of Greyhound Lines, the former operator, although long negotiations were required. Since Greyhound, a private operator out for the business, ran weekend buses, there was no question about their operation by the bridge district.

BART was a new creation. It started from scratch. And it started on a five-day week, aimed at commuters, ignoring the fact that highways full of cars on week ends prove that plenty of people go places on Saturdays and Sundays.

BART's many mistakes have been well chronicled. One of them, it now becomes evident, was in agreeing to a union contract precluding weekend operation.

So the people of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District didn't buy a full public transportation system with all those millions of tax dollars. They bought a part-time one — because Local 1555, Amalgamated Transit Union, wants it that way.

THERE IS A LESSON in this for all those — especially legislators — who are advocating "collective bargaining rights" in public employment.

California public employees now have collective bargaining rights. So do those in most other states. (One state, North Carolina, forbids collective bargaining in public employment by a law that recently was upheld in federal court.)

But unions are not permitted to have exclusive contracts in public employment in California — and most other states. Nor are public employees permitted to strike.

The exception for transit districts which denies fulltime public transportation to people in the BART counties would be extended to all public employment by those legislators (including our own Rep. John L. Burton, state Sen. Peter H. Behr, and Assemblyman-elect Michael Wornum) who keep semanticizing about the "right of collective bargaining" for those we employ with our taxes.

Think about it.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON:

Nixon's Leftovers Not All Of One Brand

WASHINGTON — Despite the departure of the former President and his most conspicuous co-conspirators, this town remains full of Nixon leftovers. Mr. Ford is belatedly about to get rid of some of them at high levels. But others are beyond his reach, protected by the rules of the bureaucracy.

And some of them are rarities whose performance in office has been a surprising twist from what the capital expected when they were chosen.

Like Mr. Ford, he is a Grand Rapid Republican. Unlike Mr. Ford, he came to town as one of those smooth young lawyers on the Nixon staff, where he acquired what was then the advantage of recognition as a John Ehrlichman protege. Then, from his post on the Domestic Council, he was nominated to become chairman of the Federal Trade Commission. Consumer advocates panicked. Here was a direct transfer from the devil's den to the regulatory agency with specific duties in the consumer protection field.

Before the Senate Commerce Committee, Engman said all the things an FTC nominee should say, asserting that he would guard the commission's independence and work hard on the consumer's behalf.

But staff members there, some long committed to the consumer cause and heartened by the body's role under Miles Kirkpatrick, were understandably dubious. They held their breath waiting for Engman to heat in the opposite direction.

TO THEIR DELIGHT and everybody else's surprise, no turnaround came. Engman took off on a trust-busting crusade that would have delighted Teddy Roosevelt. Antitrust action is the surest way to inspire competition, and competition's sure beneficiary is the consumer, he insisted. In other words, he did what he said he was going to do, which itself marked him as some kind of maverick among members and graduates of the Nixon White House staff.

Skepticism still runs deep, even concerning such a spectacular performer as Engman, so I am nervous about proclaiming him 100 per cent pure. The House commerce and finance subcommittee, for one thing, submitted a study the other day asserting that, despite the FTC's involvement in well-publicized cases to the contrary, the volume of its complaint activity in consumer cases has dropped noticeably during Engman's presence.

Even the subcommittee did not allege that this was an intentional letup of pressure against unfair business practices, however. So until I am proven wrong, I am upholding my nomination of Lewis Engman as the man who proved that leftovers can be healthy for the body politic.

EVEN IF HE SHOULD let the public down and turn out to be just another fraud from Harvard Law, and even if he lost every trust-busting case he has initiated, the truths he has spoken may-carry more weight than all his formal actions.

For Engman has dared what few of the usually invisible officials on the agencies do — he has criticized the others for being in bed day and night with the industries they are supposed to regulate.

He has ticked off one by one the ways those agencies' decisions promote inflation: in air fares, prescription drugs, coastal shipping, food prices, trucking rates and more. He has named names — or anyhow initials, pointing to the FAA (Federal Aviation Agency), the CAB (Civil Aeronautics Board), the ICC (Interstate Commerce Commission) and their companions in bureaucracy. He has been right on target.

Under these circumstances, I will be surprised yet again if Engman restrains himself from running for elected one year soon. In fact, if I were the Republican national chairwoman, I would take one look at the recent evidence and realize that the Grand Old Party could use about four dozen like him in 1976.

Election Proved Little Except Apathy Of Voters

By EARL G. WATERS

Inflation, unemployment, high taxes, and Watergate related woes have been cited as causes of California's election results in the hasty assessments made by the experts.

When all of the pronouncements have been made, one fact which will emerge is that once again California has demonstrated how predictable is the unpredictableness of this state's voters. It is easier to delineate what the election didn't prove than what it did.

THE NARROWNESS of Edmund G. Brown, Jr.'s win over Houston Flournoy didn't prove him to be any great bandwagon leader and didn't prove Flournoy to be a poor candidate.

Brown's victory over a low-profile opponent was the slimmest of any gubernatorial candidate in this state since 1906. In contrast, his father, Pat Brown, defeated the well-established Sen. William F. Knowland by more than a million votes and drove the even-better-known Richard M. Nixon clear out of the state into semi-retirement by a resounding thumping.

The election certainly didn't prove any mandate for liberalism, any more than it proved a rejection of the conservatism of the Ronald Reagan years. Given the edge in registration enjoyed by the Democrats, one might have expected overwhelming victories for all of their candidates in the face of the supposed disenchantment with Republican leadership and the blame attached for the sagging economy.

The landslide win of Sen. Alan Cranston over his conservative opponent was more the result of the hard work, both in Congress and at home, that Cranston has engaged in throughout his first term in office. For that matter, Jerry Brown's success was more the result of the hard, tough campaigning behind the scenes of his father than anything else. If Pat Brown had worked half as hard in his own behalf in 1966 as he did this year, Ronald Reagan might never have been governor.

And, despite the fact the Democrats captured all of the top state spots save one, it can hardly be termed a landslide. For, all of the other Democratic winners, excepting a Chinese lady, made poor showings in contrast to top winner Cranston. March Fong, running for secretary of state, was the exception. And it proved not to be a Democratic sweep by Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger's easy win over his Democratic opponent.

Neither did it prove that the voters are fed up with the "ins". Out of 100 legislative and 43 congressional seats up for grabs, only two congressmen, two senators and three assemblymen, one a Democrat, bit the dust. Two other assemblymen, one Democrat and one Republican, lost to fellow incumbents in contests resulting from reapportionment. Here again the election did not prove a rejection of Republicans; neither did it prove any thunderous approval of Democrats. In most cases, on examination, the wins can be attributed more to the personalities of the winners or losers.

WHAT THE ELECTION did seem to prove, by the voter apathy which saw only 63 per cent balloting, is that the electorate has not yet awakened to the bitter realities of the economy.

In 1932, at the bottom of the depression, better than 80 per cent came storming out to express their dissatisfaction with those in power. Ten years later, the economy now bolstered by World War II, only 59 per cent bothered to vote. One must go back to 1930 and 1946, both periods of relatively good times in this state, to find turnouts as low as this year's.

It is a political axiom that nothing will bring the voters out faster than empty stomachs. Conversely, when the people are eating reasonably well, it takes candidates with great magnetism and some real burning issues to bring the lethargic ones to the polls. Neither of those factors seemed to be present in this election.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Couldn't Be Politics In Naming Supervisor

Perish the thought that it would be "playing politics," that anything but devotion to the highest traditions of democratic government, and of the Grand Old Party of Lincoln, would motivate a lame-duck governor to whose said party the voters of the nation, of California, and of Marin, have just applied the thickest and stickiest coat of shellac in history, to bequeath to the people of Marin a supervisor who would join another member created by that governor (without a thought of playing politics) in protecting the misguided people of Marin from all the unsound principles they have stubbornly enunciated at the polls over the past four years. If we do not qualify for Government OF the People or BY the People, at least we shall have Government FOR the People (the RIGHT People, anyway).

October Has Become 'Haunted House Month'

The month of October has become "Haunted House Month" for the members and friends of the Jolly Rogers Chapter of Children's Home Society. This year we presented our 11th annual Haunted House, and almost 20,000 persons took our ghostly tour.

We want to thank those who so generously support our cause — children in need of families and families in need of children to complete their "home." With your contributions our project is quite profitable for Children's Home Society.

Our special thanks to the City of San Rafael, the San Rafael Fire and Police Departments, and the various media for their support and coverage. They have shown how important their services are to our community . . .

Congratulations On Choice Of Christmas Movie

What a delightful surprise to see that the Tamalpais Theater is serving "The Godfather II" for its fare on Christmas Day! Why not Christmas Eve! Then all the little kids who get to see it (and some of the big ones too) can go home and have Godfather dreams. And maybe they'll confuse him with Santa Claus. And maybe that's okay too since Santa Claus and all that isn't really important any more anyway.

What does seem important is how fast the merchants can get "Christmas" on the shelves and how much money they can make while getting it all over with as soon as possible because it's all such a pain in the . . .

Couldn't theaters just once during the year play to little children's wonder and awe and high expectations for happiness, and couldn't we all as adults (even theater managers) try to enjoy a happier holiday as free as possible from killing and making a fast buck?

It just might make for a Merry Christmas.

Meany Issues Marching Orders To Congress He Helped Elect

(Reprinted from New York Times)

When it comes to political spending, trade unions have developed into the fattest of fat cats in this post-Watergate period. The upward of $5 million contributed by unions to their 1974 congressional favorites — 90 per cent of them Democrats — is only the visible part of their investment. No less important is the large-scale manpower and other untabulated services they muster in support of union-backed candidates.

Though George Meany loses no opportunity to insist that the point of all this outlay is to advance the general interest, not labor's alone, that is scarcely the message most Democratic Congress members are likely to derive from the caustic comments on their program and performance made by the A.F.L.-C.I.O. chief in the wake of last week's Democratic landslide. His remarks had all the peremptoriness of a drill sergeant issuing orders to his troops.

They were in line with advice Mr. Meany had given a day earlier at the founding convention of a new AFL-CIO department intended to speed unionization of 13 million federal, state and municipal workers. His counsel to public workers was to ignore legal prohibitions and go on strike whenever they felt they were being kicked around. As New Yorkers have learned through years of painful experience, what such a policy means is that the public gets kicked around whenever a well-entrenched union in control of an essential public service doesn't get what it wants from the city or state. . .

One of the federation's prime goals in the new Congress will be to push through a federal law requiring states and localities to give public employees all the bargaining rights of workers in private industry, including the right to strike. The accent Mr. Meany chose to put on militant action to bring governors and mayors to heel — with or without a law — raises new doubts that the general welfare would benefit from a federal mandate to strengthen civil service unions.

In appraising such legislation, however, many members of Congress, especially Democrats, are not free of the obligation created by heavy financial aid from organized labor. This is one area in which we hope Congress will go along with the same Mr. Meany. He has repeatedly testified in favor of legislation that would make the financing of all political campaigns a public responsibility.

Ford Preparing To Replace Nixon Cabinet With His Own

NIXON CABINET ON WAY OUT. President Ford is preparing to make a clean sweep of all cabinet holdovers except two: Secy. of State Henry Kissinger and Secy. of Defense James Schlesinger.

The resignations of the others will be accepted as soon as replacements can be found and cleared. Two factors caused delay: (1) Too many other matters pressed in on Mr. Ford; (2) he has had great trouble finding the qualified people he wanted.

THE ELECTION: WHO WERE THE BIGGEST INDIVIDUAL WINNERS? There were two and they are both Democratic presidential prospects.

In Ohio, John Glenn piled up the biggest winning margin in any senatorial race despite the fact that the Democratic candidate for governor, incumbent John J. Gilligan, was defeated.

Gov. George Wallace won 85 per cent of the vote in Alabama, including substantial support among blacks.

Glenn and Wallace for '76. What a ticket!

But it won't happen.

WILL THE GOP SURVIVE? Today its defeat doesn't look quite so bad as it did the morning after. The Democrats won more House seats than usual in the off-year when the party does not control the White House. They won 13 above the average, which is 30.

But the Republicans lost fewer Senate seats than the average off-year loss. They lost three instead of six.

WATERGATE: FIGURE THIS ONE OUT. The special prosecutors are resisting having the bribery trial of former Treasury Secy. John Connally moved to Texas as Connally has requested because of heavy pretrial publicity. But they resisted moving the Watergate coverup trial out of Washington where the one-sided pretrial publicity was even greater.

"REFUGEES FROM INFLATION." That's the plight of many retired Americans. They are leaving the country and living in places abroad where costs are lower than in the United States.

The Social Security Administration reports that 70,000 retired or disabled citizens are living outside the United States and receiving their benefits there. The number has doubled since 1960.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: Abba Eban, former Israeli minister of foreign affairs, on the United Nations' invitation to the Palestine Liberation Organization:

"In its present mood and structure, the United Nations would refuse to endorse the 10 Commandments on account of the Israelite origin. Today the United Nations wearily embraces the terrorist movement, which it recently sought to condemn."

"The football rules say everybody that has a uniform is eligible, that in case a player has a phone call, he can excuse himself for a few minutes, come back again, then, if he has a luncheon engagement, he can take time out for that, or if he sees an old friend in the stands, he can send in a substitute while he chats with him. Then, of course, in case of slight fatigue, he can come out and sleep a bit.

CAPITOL QUIPS

Democrats have so many many members elected to Congress that they hardly know where to start fighting each other.

The majority party can take the two party system for granted, but Republicans always have to take a count.

There Was 'No Room At The Inn' For Longtime Marin Family

Remember Lewis and Florence Gardner, who spent weeks camping with eight of their nine children in Samuel P. Taylor State Park because they couldn't find a house big enough for the family, their piano and their dogs?

It was all a great adventure, though sort of harrowing for the kids who had to study their homework by campfire and the domelight of the family auto. After the situation worsened with the weather, the tight-knit family finally split up, dividing the youngsters among several former neighbors in Fairfax and environs.

Lewis Gardner's father, who lives in Santa Barbara, offered a down payment for a home — but any Marin County house big enough for the family turned out to be in a price range only the Rockefellers can afford.

The Gardners next tried to buy a mobile home — but couldn't because the parks won't allow that many people in one unit.

FINALLY, MOST of the family moved into a tract house they bought in Goleta, leaving behind sons Joe, 16, to live in the household of Michele Thune of the College of Marin music department, and Mike, 18, who's moving periodically from one friend's home to another.

"They moved to Goleta two weeks ago in the back of an open truck in the pouring rain in the middle of the night," Mrs. Thune reported. "It was chaos."

"It's kind of sad" that the family had to uproot itself after living 15 years in Marin, Mrs. Thune said.

THE SAN ANSELMO City Council has been happy hunting grounds for reporters for the past year or so, because of offbeat ideas that keep popping up. Particularly since Dr. Martin G. Blinder became mayor, with his quiet little proposal for a nude park and such.

But Blinder can't have all the credit. Councilman John H. Colteaux last Tuesday proposed that San Anselmo re-revise its animal control ordinance to allow residents to have only one pet per household — and do away with the leash law.

He said that cutting down the dog population his way would mean that "the poor dogs could regain their feeedom."

Obviously neither Colteaux — nor new City Administrator Alan Bruce, it turned out — has heard of the Marin County Animal Health and Control Commission. That group has been studying for months to find some way to eliminate the constant Balkanization of dog laws in Marin County.

Every councilman feels entirely competent to rule on anything concerning pet ownership, although most city fathers won't decide where to plant a tulip bulb without hiring a landscape consultant. So, dog laws in Marin change faster than the dog catcher can keep up with them.

All the dog owners' clubs in Marin have been harping for years that the best solution is a strictly enforced leash law — with strays really being chased off the streets and out of the neighbors' yards.

A family should own no dogs, the clubs preach, unless adults are willing to provide safely fenced yards or make the effort to walk their pets regularly and clean up the droppings.

MAYBE A NEW ERA of paid journalism is approaching.

I can't recall any newspaper ever asking a city council or board of supervisors to pay for reporters sent to cover the public meetings, but the Marin Community Video group is soliciting all the public agencies for such financial backing.

To me, the argument that it's public service is questionable, too. The only people who get to see the resulting show are paying for their cable service.

But darn few civic bodies are flatly saying no.

Democrats Are Ready To Test New Governor's 'New Spirit'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Emerging from eight years in the "cut, squeeze and trim" fiscal vise of Gov. Ronald Reagan, Democrats in the legislature are preparing a deluge of programs to test out on the "new spirit" administration of Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr.

A budget surplus of about a half-billion dollars awaits the legislature when it returns Dec. 2 for a week-long "organizing" meeting. The two-year working session starts Jan. 6.

But Democrats, having reinforced their majorities in both houses during the elections, are expected to re-offer a spate of spending and policy measures which were rejected by the retiring Republican Reagan.

In a series of post-election interviews, legislative leaders set forth some of their first goals and priorities.

High on the list of Assembly Speaker Leo T. McCarthy, DSan Francisco, is a bill to provide public financing of state elections. He said it will be one of the "very few" measures he will personally carry.

McCarthy said it will make provisions for a combination of public and private support for both primary and general election campaigns. The cost to the state treasury, he said, "will depend, like everything else, on the state of the economy."

Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego, and several other ranking lawmakers said the primary task for the legislature will be to meet a court-ordered restructuring of the state's school financing system.

The complex problem of equalizing school district tax rates and educational opportunities is certain to cost the stte large sums of money. Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles has estimated the price tag at $1 billion.

The current reliance on widely varying property tax rates for the majority of school dollars was declared unconstitutional this year by a Los Angeles Superior Court judge in the famed Serrano case. The judge gave a six-year deadline to completely revamp the system.

Both Mills and McCarthy must stand for election in their respective houses to retain their leadership positions. Rival Democrats have tested the waters for potential challenges, but the two men express open optimism of overcoming any opponents.

In the general election, Democrats picked up a net of seven Assembly seats, gaining better than a two-thirds majority in the house for the first time this century. The partisan lineup now is 55 Democrats and 25 Republicans.

Democrats picked up a net of three seats in the Senate, and now outnumber Republicans 25-14 with one vacancy. There will be another opening in January when Democratic Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally is sworn in as lieutenant governor.

Some of the other major Democratic proposals:

EDUCATION. McCarthy says one of the first bills to be acted upon next year will be a measure giving school districts a one-time allocation of extra state money to help them meet inflation. He said it would be similar to a $74 million bill vetoed last session by Reagan.

HOUSING. McCarthy also supports early enactment of legislation creating a state agency to help low and middleincome Californians finance new housing through multimillion dollars bonds. This is another proposal rejected by Reagan.

PARKS. Mills says he will push to appropriate about $40 million of the surplus immediately for acquisition of park and conservation lands. Also this session, the legislature will have to grapple with a proposed master plan for coastal development in the state.

TRANSPORTATION. — Transportation. Mills, McCarthy and other lawmakers expect proposals to increase the state's role in planning and financing mass rapid transit systems.

PUBLIC EMPLOYES. The newly-elected governor and many Democratic legislators support broad new collective bargaining rights for public employes, including arbitration and the right to strike. Reagan has strongly opposed the idea.

For their part, Republicans, who won only 28 of 100 legislative seats up for election, were bracing to act as "watchdogs" over what they fear might be Democratic excesses.

"If they don't want to give us a seat on the 50-yard-line mcuh less let us play in the stadium, we'll be forced to act as the loyal opposition," said Assembly GOP Whip Dixon Arnett.

"I expect to agree with Jerry Brown on a wide range of programs ... in the vast majority of instances," said McCarthy, who, as speaker, is the state's most powerful legislator.

But other lawmakers had a different view. They noted the bitter disputes that erupted between a Democratic-controlled legislature and Brown's father, former Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

And, they said the younger Brown's moderate fiscal views were apt to clash with more activist-minded members of the legislature.

Finally, some said the abundance of Democrats elected to the legislature and other state offices plus lingering leadership struggles in the Assembly and Senate would lead ultimately to intra-party squabbles and prevent a united Democratic front.

In the eyes of Assembly GOP caucus Chairman Frank Murphy Jr. of Santa Cruz, "It's not going to be peaches and cream."

Freeway Of Tomorrow May Use Traffic Lights

MENLO PARK (UPI) — The freeway of tomorrow may be the freeway of yesterday with a traffic light added at the entrance ramp.

Stanford Research Institute analysts believe inflated highway construction costs, coupled with demands for an end to the air polluting, fuel-wasting traffic jam, will force state governments to make more efficient use of the roadways they already have.

"It may cost several million dollars for a mile of highway construction in urban areas," said researcher Dale Masher, "While often the total cost for an electronic control system is less than $1 million."

Masher is conducting a $200,000 study on contract from the National Cooperative Highway Research Panel in an effort to determine the most effective use of traffic signals and electronic monitors on highway ramps.

"Basically, in the more populated states, more people want to use the highway than the system can handle," Masher said. "Highway officials have to decide where the congestion is going to be — on the highway or on the city streets."

In New York City, Masher said, officials have decided to let the freeways "break-down" rather than let the cars pile up on neighborhood streets. "But in Minneapolis, there is pretty good car storage on highway ramps and the signals have had fantastic results," Masher said.

"Before the ramp-light system was installed in Minneapolis, you had one accident a day, but now there is only one or two a month," Masher said. In addition to the safety value of accident reduction, Masher notes that any time there is an accident on a highway, with motorists slamming on their brakes and with the danger of multiple-car collisions.

Masher believes that even though there is a wait on the freeway ramp, there is an overall savings in fuel and air pollution costs because cars make better use of their time on the road. One ramp control project in Los Angeles is saving 1,000 vehicle hours a day, he said.

Masher recently surveyed highway departments in the 50 states and discovered that most states want high-occupancy vehicles, such as buses and car pools, to receive preferential treatment on the highway ramp. States "whose freeways are not burdened by recurring congestions or breakdown" showed little or no interest in ramp metering, the survey found.

Masher noted that the success of the metering programs is based on one unwitting factor — it may keep some cars off the highway. "People may be inclined to use an alternate route when they see a line at the ramp," Masher said. "And motorists only going a short distance will be inclined to use city streets."

Fund Begun For Injured Teen-Ager

A fund drive has been started in Marin to help a 15-year-old Forestville boy who is paralyzed from the chin down as the result of a swimming pool accident last summer.

Michael, who was injured after he lost his footing climbing a ladder at a neighbor's pool, is at Valley Medical Clinic in San Jose, according to Micheline King of Novato, head of the Michael Humphrey Trust Fund.

The fund, opened at the Bank of Sonoma County, Forestville, now has slightly more than $3,000, she said.

Several merchants in Novato and San Rafael have agreed to place red and white Mike Humphrey fund canisters in their stores, Mrs. King said.

Anyone wishing to contribute can send donations to the Mike Humphrey Trust Fund in care of Mrs. King, 16 Estates Drive, Novato, or to the Bank of Sonoma County, Forestville.

7 WAYS TO KEEP WARMER, CHEAPER.

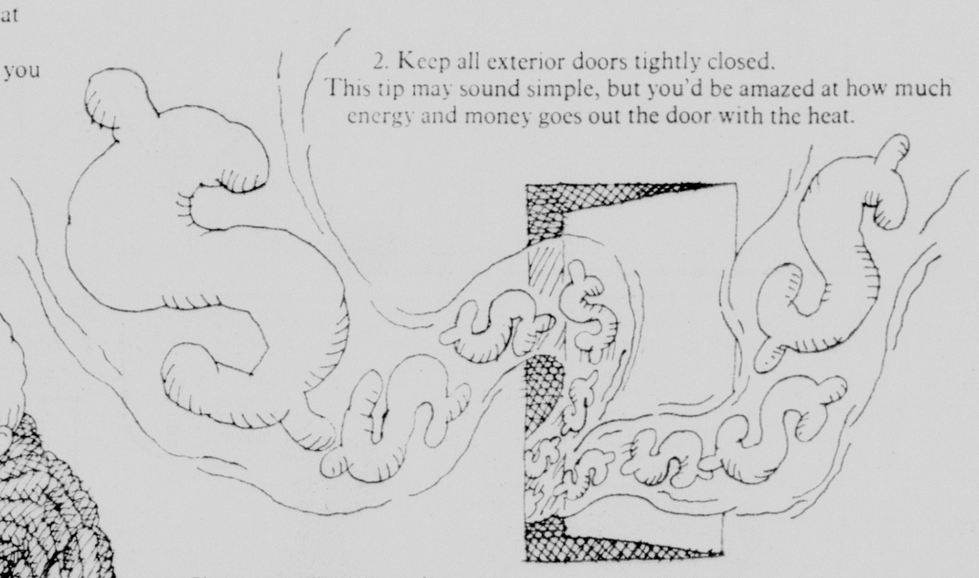
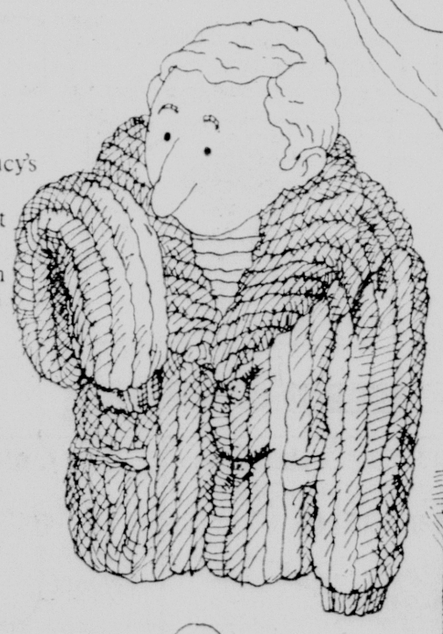
Because our costs for fuel have gone up, your fuel costs are higher this winter than last, too. But even with increased rates, you can still hold down your heating costs by decreasing your energy usage. Here are some practical "here's hows."

1. Set your furnace thermostat to a temperature of 68° or lower. Turn it down even more when you leave home or go to bed.

2. Keep all exterior doors tightly closed. This tip may sound simple, but you'd be amazed at how much energy and money goes out the door with the heat.

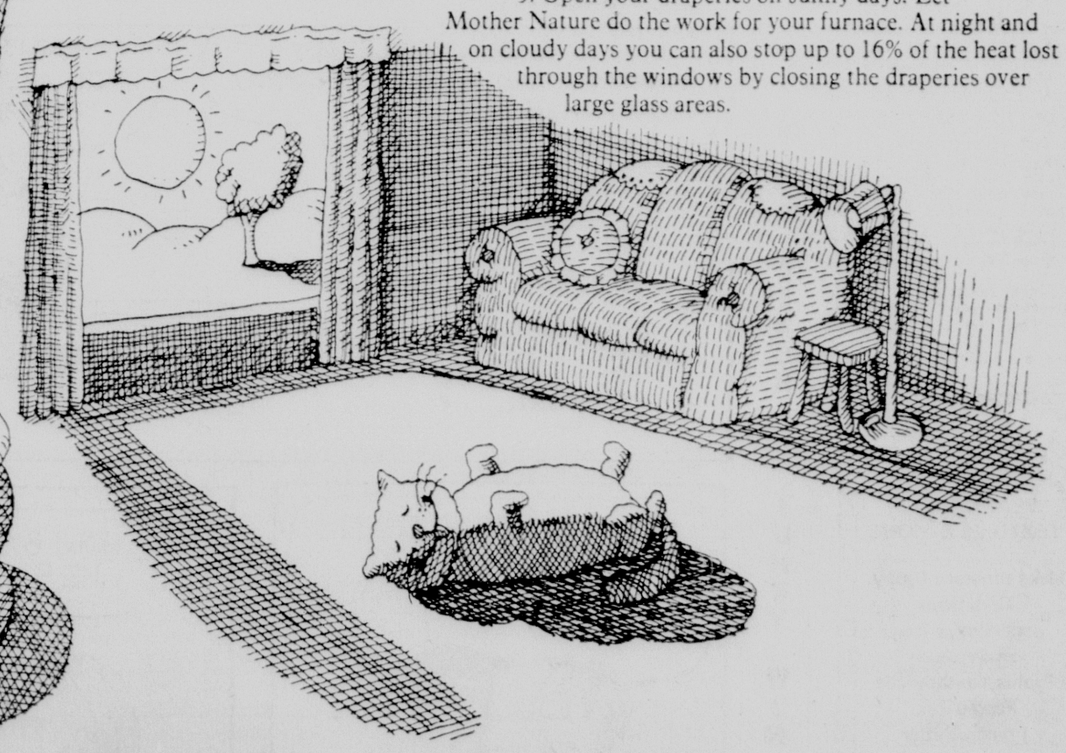


3. Drag out Aunt Lucy's homemade sweater. Remember the cable knit you thought was really knit out of cables? It can actually help at lower thermostat settings.

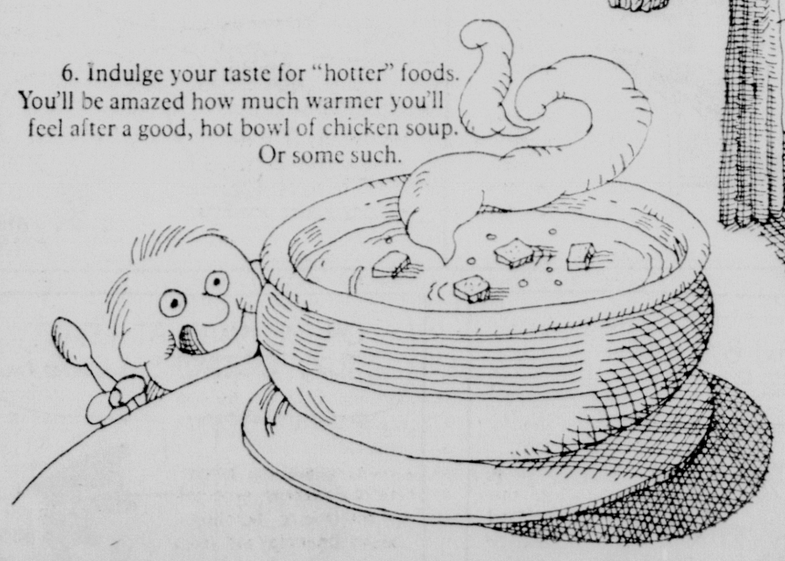


4. Clean or replace those dirty filters that make the furnace work harder than necessary to heat your home.

5. Open your draperies on sunny days. Let Mother Nature do the work for your furnace. At night and on cloudy days you can also stop up to 16% of the heat lost through the windows by closing the draperies over large glass areas.



6. Indulge your taste for "hotter" foods. You'll be amazed how much warmer you'll feel after a good, hot bowl of chicken soup. Or some such.



7. When you're not using the fireplace, close the damper. Why let your heat escape up a flue that can't appreciate it?

A Premature Remark Could Jeopardize Partner's Play

If you're going to San Antonio for the national bridge tournament during the first week of December, remember to show no surprise during the play of a hand. A premature remark may let the cat out of the bag.

WEST OPENS

West opened the deuce of spades, and South saw that he needed three diamond tricks for the contract. He won the first trick in dummy with the ace of spades and led a diamond toward his hand.

East naturally played low, South finessed with the nine and West won with the king. This was a normal false card on West's part, but East didn't recognize it immediately. Not understanding why South would finesse with the nine if his diamonds were headed by ace-queen-jack, East asked, "What's going on?"

It was a simple question asked by a simple player. South laughed and led out the ace of diamonds at his next turn, catching the blank queen. There was no further problem.

East should help his partner instead of talking out of turn. When the nine of diamonds loses to the king, East should keep a bland silence.

The next time diamonds are led from dummy, East should produce the ten of diamonds. The idea is to look like a player who has Q-10-2 to start with. South would surely finesse with the jack, and that would be the end of him.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened with one no-trump, and your partner has bid two spades. The opponents pass at each turn, and it is once more up to you, holding:

♠ - K 7 5
♥ - A 8 6
♦ - A J 9 8
♣ - A 8 3

ANSWER: Pass.

Your partner knows that you have 16 to 18 points, but his weak response says that he is nevertheless not interested in game. You would need excellent spade support and at least 17 points in high cards to make a further bid.

Cory Claims Monopoly By Oil Companies

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Controller-elect Ken Cory said today anti-trust actions should be filed against seven large oil companies for allegedly monopolizing the crude oil market in California.

Cory said the corporations prevented competition and "violated" all their contractual responsibilities to the state by controlling pipeline networks and forming cooperative drilling and exploration ventures.

"There is such a degree of inter-company cooperation in crude oil marketing as to make a mockery of the free enterprise system," said Cory, a Democratic Assemblyman from Garden Grove, who chaired the Joint Committee on Public Domain.

Cory released a committee report accusing seven oil companies of violating both state and federal anti-trust laws.

The seven were Standard Oil of California, Mobil, Union Oil, Atlantic Richfield, Exxon, Texaco and Shell.

As controller, Cory will head the state Lands Commission, which controls leases to oil companies on state-owned lands. He said the companies owed the state "at least $170 million for past and present violations."

The committee report said the companies, called "majors," rely "on access to other majors' pipelines."

"In short, it is fair to say that there is one pipeline network in California, pieces of which are owned by the major oil companies," the report said. "The majors have free access to the entire system, but can exclude independent producers and refiners from the system at will."

Under state law, oil companies can deny use of pipelines to other companies if the majors use the pipelines only to transport their own oil and if they do not offer to carry oil for the community at large.

The report charged the companies with "maintaining the fiction of 'private carrier' status for their pipelines."

"Each company routinely requires that oil shipped over its lines be sold to the company as pipeline owner," the report said.

The report outlined a complex exchange payments system by which oil companies pay each other for the oil transported through other companies' pipes.

"The exchange device is used to ensure that the pipeline owner has ownership of the oil in his line" to avoid California Public Utility laws, the report said.

"It is a violation of both the state pipeline laws and the federal 'common carrier' permits covering these lines to maintain private carrier status," the report said.

"This, of course, gives the pipeline owners effective power over the independent production not otherwise under direct control," it added.

The report concluded that "intent to monopolize is demonstrated by the fact that the pipelines are operated to avoid both state and federal regulations."

New Drug Helps In Heart Cases

DALLAS (UPI) — A doctor said today rheumatic fever and heart attack patients who develop a leaky valve in the heart's main chamber can be kept alive by a new drug that relaxes the blood system.

Dr. William Grossman of the University of North Carolina said the drug, sodium nitroprusside, has saved the lives of two patients who were near death and in need of corrective surgery.

The drug relaxes arteries and lowers resistance to blood flow throughout the body, easing the strain on the heart.

The problem comes from a malfunctioning mitral valve which regulates blood flow into the left ventricle of the heart. If the valve allows blood to spill back into the left ventricle, pressure increases in the veins draining the lungs and causes severe congestion and shortness of breath.

Many patients are treated with other drugs including digitalis and some diuretics and about half of the patients will eventually require surgery to implant an artificial mitral valve.

However, many patients in urgent need of surgery already have severe heart failure and do not respond to normal treatment.

Grossman said his research team has used the new drug in seven patients, all with good results.

"It was our impression that the treatment was life saving in two of the patients, who were moribund at the time of its administration, and showed remarkable improvement within 15 minutes of starting the drug," he said.

New Hope For Equal Rights Bill Is Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One result of the nationwide general elections earlier this month may be ratification next year of the Equal Rights Amendment, says the League of Women Voters.

In the state legislatures elected Nov. 5, supporters of ERA appear to have a majority in at least six states that previously rejected the amendment, according to a computerized survey done by the League.

The amendment, which would eliminate sex discrimination by statute, already has been ratified by 33 state legislatures. Five more states must ratify it before it can become the 27th Amendment to the Constitution.

League analysts said three of those states, North Dakota, Illinois and Missouri, are nearly certain to ratify the ERA next year.

In the three others, Oklahoma, North Carolina and Nevada, the analysts said ERA still must overcome some opposition among the legislative leaders or what they described as an "unpredictable kind of conservatism."

In South Carolina, the League survey showed ERA proponents won a majority in the House, but the Senate was not polled because its members were not up for re-election.

"My position has changed from hopeful in 1975 to very optimistic," said Mary Brooks, a league expert on the issue.

"None of it will happen in January. We'll start looking for votes in Feburary and March. By the end of June, there's no question about it."

The survey was based on questionnaires, which all statehouse candidates were asked to fill out.

Republicans Join Drive To Override Press Veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two House Republicans have joined a campaign to override President Ford's veto of a measure designed to strengthen the 1966 Freedom of Information Act.

Rep. William S. Moorehead, chairman of the Government Operations subcommittee on information, persuaded Reps. John N. Erlenborn, R-Ill., and Frank Horton, R-N.Y., to join the override drive.

Erlenborn is the ranking Republican on Moorhead's subcommittee and Horton is the ranking Republican on the full Government Operations Committee.

Wednesday, every member of the House will receive a "Dear Colleague" letter from Moorehead urging them to vote to override the veto.

Ford vetoed the bill Oct. 17, calling it "unconstitutional and unworkable" in his message to Congress. He specifically objected to the 10-20 day time limit set by the bill for the government to reply to requests for information.

Moorhead will give a speech on the House floor just before the vote to answer Ford's arguments. He feels Congress gave the administration just about what it asked for in the vetoed bill.

The subcommittee staff believes it has nearly all the two-thirds vote needed to override the veto in the House. Senate strategy has not been worked out yet.

In addition to shortening the time the government has to respond to queries, the amendments would also pay court costs of those who sue in court for information and win, in certain cases.

Grape Growers Plan A Winery

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Disenchanted grape growers have announced plans to found their own $25 million winery in Sonoma County next year.

Co-owners will be most of the 700 members of the North Coast Grape Growers Association, from Sonoma, Mendocino and Napa counties, a spokesman said yesterday.

The proposed winery is the result of unstable prices offered growers for their grapes. A year after many received more than $800 a ton for their best grapes, wineries were offering growers as little as $250, said the spokesman.

"We want to stabilize the situation," said Ernest Butow, secretary-treasurer for the association.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Treatment Of Angina Pectoris Is Complicated And Expensive

The treatment of angina pectoria is sophisticated, complicated and very expensive. In the past, people who developed this type of chest pain when walking were able to relieve the source of discomfort after stopping for a moment and putting a nitroglycerin tablet under their tongue. Wihtin one to three minutes, the distress subsided and victims were able to continue on their way.

Basically, angina pectoris is caused by hardening and narrowing of the coronary arteries. The heart muscle does not get enough blood when the individual gets excited or exerts himself. As the condition progresses, a further reduction in the circulation to the heart muscle occurs that could lead to a heart attack (coronary thrombosis or myocardial ischemia).

PROPHYLACTIC USE of drugs is the latest approach to prevent attacks of acute anginal pain.

A few days after another column of mine on agina appeared I received the following letter from a 67-year-old friend of mine who has angina pectoris. He told me that on his last two trips to the airport, he developed angina after a brisk quarter of a mile walk to and from the plane.

"The pain let up after I rested for a moment. Nonetheless, the following morning I made an appointment to see my physician. As usual, my electrocardiogram was normal. He decided to do a two-step exercise test because people with angina or coronary artery disease show specific changes in the electrocardiogram pattern after exertion.

"The exercise test was positive indicating artery changes. To determine the status of these vessels, my doctor had me hospitalized. Dye was inserted into my coronary arteries, and electrical, moving X-ray pictures were taken.

"THE REPORT I received stated: 'Right artery normal; blockage of two left arteries — one minor, the other severe.' Whatever that means!"

Costly as these diagnostic procedures were, at lest my friend now knows where he stands. His doctor has him back on antihypertenisve drugs and nitroglycerin — as needed and prophylactically. Long-acting nitroglycerin tablets have been prescribed to keep the vessels open and to lessen the work of the heart.

Had my friend's coronary abnormality been more extenisve, I'm sure that his physician would have advised bypass surgery to improve the flow of blood to his heart. But since the involvement was minimal, surgery was not worth the risk.

Indeed, some surgeons resort to surgery only when all else fails because they believe that people with angina often live longer without surgical intervention. Before this theory is confirmed or disproved, much more study will be needed.

HYPOGLYCEMIA

REPLY

No, it is not. Hypo means small amounts; glycemia refers to sugar (glucose) in the blood. Thus, hypoglycemia is just the opposite of diabetes, in which there is an excess (hyper) of sugar in the blood.

DRENCHED AT NIGHT

Mrs. W. writes: All winter long I awaken three or four times a night with the night sweats. At times I am so drenched that I have to change my nightgown. I never have this problem during the day. I'm 64-year-young.

REPLY

It is quite normal for some persons to perspire profusely when they are completely relaxed, such as when they are in bed. But night sweats also occur when the room is too warm, there are too many blankets on the bed or the person has a fever caused by an infection or tumor. You ought to check this out with your physician.

Petaluman Ordered To Stand Trial

Clyde Martin Wallen, of 1821 Lakeville Highway, waived a preliminary hearing last week before Municipal Judge Alexander J. McMahon. He is charged with oral copulation, child molesting, possession of a sawed-off shotgun and failure to comply with a state law requiring persons with sex offense records to register with police.

Wallen was to appear before Superior Judge Kenneth M. Evemann today.

One Medium Of 1880s Believed Genuine Among Researchers

That some of them are is a fact of life. In May 1960, for example, two researchers, Tom O'Neill and Dr. Henry Puharich, took infrared movies of a seance at a spiritualist camp. The infrared film showed that what were supposed to be departed spirits materializing in the dark were actually camp mediums dressed in luminous chiffon entering the room through a secret entrance.

It's no wonder that some people conclude all mediums are frauds. However, the greatest of American psychologists, William James, said: "All that's necessary to prove that all crows are not black is one white crow."

For years the famous philosopher-psychologist had believed that so-called mediums were actually clever tricksters. But Mrs. Piper, who he met in Boston in 1885, changed his mind — at least about her.

At first, when Mrs. Piper gave him facts about himself and deceased relatives that she had no business knowing, James was inclined to put it down to sheer coincidence. But soon there were too many for that. Maybe she was using research, he thought. However, the medium then revealed intimate family matters which James was certain couldn't have been discovered by any investigation.

In 1887, William James introduced Mrs. Piper to another noted psychical researcher, Dr. Richard Hodgson, who was fresh from exposing fraudulent mediums in London. Hodgson, too, at first thought Mrs. Piper was a fake. He hired detectives to follow her in an attempt to uncover her secret confederates. None was ever discovered.

In 1889, Mrs. Piper was invited to England to be studied by the Society for Psychical Research. One of her sitters there was Sir Oliver Lodge, the noted physicist. He came up with a test he was sure would stump her.

Lodge wrote to his Uncle Robert to send him a personal object. The uncle chose a gold watch which had belonged to his twin, named Gerald, who had been dead for 20 years.

During the seance, Lodge handed the medium, Mrs. Piper, this watch and asked her to tell him about its owner.

"This watch belongs to your Uncle Gerald," she said, with no hesitation. Lodge was thunderstruck.

Then the medium went on to describe incidents from the dead uncle's childhood — the killing of a cat in a place called Smith's Field; and the time he had almost drowned in a creek at the age of 12. The medium also mentioned that one of the dead man's most treasured possessions as a youngster had been a snakeskin.

Sir Oliver Lodge wrote to his Uncle Robert for confirmation of these details. He replied that they were completely correct.

As a result of demonstrations such as this, men like William James, Richard Hodgson and Sir Oliver Lodge said they were satisfied that Lenore Piper had genuinely mysterious powers.

Some went further and said they believed she really did communicate with the dead.

Three Possible Sites Chosen For New Hospital In Petaluma

Three sites have been selected by the Petaluma hospital district citizens advisory committee as possible locations for a new Southern Sonoma medical facility.

At a meeting last Thursday the committee narrowed a list of eight tentative sites down to three which include Denman Flats (between Petaluma and the cities of Cotati and Rohnert Park) and two east Petaluma sites, one on McDowell Boulebard near Lucchesi Park and the other on Old Adobe Road at the east end of East Washington Street.

The board accepted a report from the Sonoma County planning commission which said McDowell Boulevard is the best site in terms of central location, proximity to Highway 101, lack of flood or earthquake problems, availability of utilities and ease of site preparation.

Most committee members opposed the site on Old Adobe Road, but included it because they were unsure how absent members would feel about its exclusion.

The committee agreed to tour the McDowell Boulevard and Denman Flats sites in the near future.

Underwater Swim Effort Postponed

ISLAMORADA, Fla. (UPI) — Bad weather yesterday forced underwater swimmer Neal Watson to postpone his second attempt in three days to swim without surfacing from Islamorada to West Palm Beach, Fla., a distance of 150 miles.

Watson, 34, a night club owner who holds the world compressed air deep diving record of 437 feet, said he doubts he can try again for six months because weather conditions are not favorable during the winter or spring months.

Wayne Roche Legs Team Into Second

San Marin Triumphs In Finale

By DAVID EINSTEIN

The San Marin Mustangs ended the 1974 football season Saturday the way they began it — by riding the shirttails of Wayne Roche to victory.

The Mustangs locked up second place in the final Marin County Athletic League standings with a 10-0 victory over Terra Linda before nearly 1,000 fans at Novato High. And in the process, Roche won his second straight league rushing title going away.

Under first-year coach John Treu, San Marin compiled its best record ever with 4-1-1 in league play and 3-1-1 overall. Terra Linda, which could have tied the Mustangs for second, ended tied for fourth with Tamalpais at 2-3-1.

Nearly every Mustang gave his season's best performance Saturday, and Roche set the example. In 20 carries he totaled 162 yards, and he scored the only touchdown. That gave him 495 yards for the season in league play and the rushing crown by 129 yards over teammate Bob Bennett, who had 51 yards Saturday.

Roche broke like lightening as he flashed around the ends for most of his yardage. The touchdown covered 11 yards on San Marin's third play from scrimmage, and though it was his most meaningful carry of the afternoon, it was by no means his most spectacular.

Several minutes later, the 5-11, 160-pound senior streaked 28 yards to the end zone, only to have the play called back by a penalty. And in the third quarter he weaved his speedy way 64 yards to the one yard line, and then watched a teammate fumble on the next play.

The early touchdown was enough, however, thanks to a defense that handed Terra Linda its only shutout of the league season. Defensive end Glenn Stevenson led a charge that limited the Trojans to 43 net yards rushing, and four interceptions, two by Steve Callison, deflated the Terra Linda passing attack at crucial points.

The Trojans, who tied champion Novato last week, stayed

'About Time,' Says 49ers' Nolan

Everything Works For San Francisco In Win

CHICAGO (UPI) — "Everything worked" for the San Francisco 49ers and nothing worked for the Chicago Bears.

That was the story of the 49ers' 34-0 National Football League win yesterday which broke a seven-game losing streak and extended the Bears' losing streak to four games. The shutout extended the Bears' string of periods without a touchdown to 19.

"It's about time," 49er coach Dick Nolan said. "We've been very close. In the beginning we made some big plays and we kept the momentum. When you shut out a team in this league, you played very well. Everything worked."

Rival Coach Abe Gibro of the Bears said the 49ers "wanted it more than we did. I can't understand it. You watch practice and you'd never dream they'd play this way. But San Francisco had the ball for 37 or 38 plays in the first half alone and something had to happen. The difference was in passing the ball and moving it. It was a matter of execution."

The difference in passing was most notable. One rookie, Tom Owen of the 49ers, starting for the third time, completed 15 of 26 passes for 316 yards and two touchdowns, and another, the Bears' Gary Huff, had to give way to Bobby Douglass for the second half. Huff and Douglass between them completed 14 of 28 passes, but gained only 100 yards.

Huff found no fault with his being replaced. "We needed to do something," he said, "because everything we were doing wasn't working. We needed a catalyst, someone to get the guys excited, fired up. It's lack of concentration that kills us. Little mistakes stop drives."

He said he told his teammates at the half "if you think we're embarrassed now, think how embarrassed we're going to be. There's no limit if we don't get together."

To Owen, it was a "super" day and the adjective applied to every phase of the game. "It's super to win," he said. "The greatest feeling in the world. We've been waiting for this. The offensive line was super. We ran good patterns andd had a lot of time to throw. When you do that, and when you put the ball where it's supposed to be, you're going to move.

Owen, who had the first 300-yard plus game for the 49ers since the prime of John Brodie, won acclaim, too, from one of the toughest of the Bears, Wally Chambers. "He didn't look much like a kid," Chambers said. "After we were getting to him in the first quarter, they went to play passes that froze our line. We just executed poorly and you can't put that on anybody. We didn't do our job."

Owen ran a yard for one touchdown and passed to Terry Beasley for 68 yards and a score and to Ted Kwalick for 20 yards and a third. Sam Johnson also ran a yard for a touchdown and Del Williams scored on a six-yard sweep.

The Bears had only one chance in the first quarter, and Mirro Roder missed a 33-yard field goal attempt. "It's a bad feeling when every try is a must," Roder said, "when I think maybe it's the only points we'll get."

"We've got four weeks to regain our self respect," Gibron said. "Douglass played well. You can't expect him to do miracles when he comes in at the half behind 20-0. I'm not saying who I'm going with the rest of the season. Huff has been doing a good job and he's got no problems."

But the Bears have.

Warriors Heading East After Winning, Losing

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors, back on the winning trail, head East for four games with a 2½ game lead in the National Basketball Association Pacific Division.

The Warriors bounced back at Phoenix last night to post a 106-105 win over the Suns after bowing 106-102 here Saturday night to Philadelphia.

"If you spot a team 23 points you have a problem on your hands," said Warrior coach Al Attles. "It's something we're going to have to correct."

The Warriors may have done just that against the Suns. The biggest margin of the game was seven points by Phoenix late in the third quarter.

Golden State came back against Philadelphia and held a three point lead in the third quarter but the big push was missing when they needed it at the end.

The Warriors take on Buffalo Tuesday, Boston Wednesday and Cleveland Thursday. They are at Detroit Saturday.

IF DENVER LOSES

Oakland Can Cinch Its Division Title

OAKLAND (UPI) — Like most football fans around the nation, the Oakland Raiders, individually and collectively will be watching tonight's Kansas City-Denver National Football League game on television. (Game time is 6 o'clock on local channels 7 and 11.)

While the game will be pure entertainment for most, the Raiders will have a big stake in the outcome.

Because they beat the San Diego Chargers 17-10 yesterday, a Kansas City victory over the Broncos tonight would eliminate Denver from the American Football Conference West race and lock up the division title for Oakland.

A Denver victory, and the Broncos are favored, would extend the season at least until next Sunday when the Raiders host Denver with a chance to sew things up on their own.

"It wasn't one of our better games," said Coach John Madden, "but you have to expect that in a 14-game schedule."

George Blanda boosted a 28-yard field goal for a 17-3 lead with 6:29 left and the Raiders seemed home free. But the Chargers, playing as many as eight rookies, didn't cave in. They marched 78 yards in only four plays with the following kickoff to close the gap to only seven points.

Rookie running back Don Woods wound up the drive by going over for the final yard. The Chargers then elected to go for an onside kick but the Raiders wound up with the ball.

Four players later, though, linebacker Floyd Rice intercepted a pass by Ken Stabler, the first off the ace Oakland quarterback in his last 156 throws, and San Diego had a chance to tie the score and send the game into overtime.

With Dan Fouts hitting Wayne Stewart with a 19-yard pass, Dave Grinnell on a 22-yarder and Gary Garrison on a 16-yarder, the Chargers were down on the Oakland seven with 1:56 left to play.

Stabler completed 16 of 32 throws for 240 yards, including a 60-yard bomb to Cliff Branch, and Pete Banaszak completed a long drive with a one-yard run for the Oakland TDs.

QB Fahey Keys Drake Victory

By DAVID DEL GRANDE

Drake High School quarterback Terry Fahey passed for more than 100 yards in his fourth consecutive football game Saturday to guide the Pirates to a 33-21 demolition of Tamalpais in Mill Valley.

Fahey completed 10 of 23 passes for 127 yards and three touchdowns to seal his position in the final statistics as the league's No. 2 passer. His favorite target, Gary Peak, caught three passes, including a 56-yarder for a touchdown, to finish second among MCAL receivers.

The bomb to Peak was preceded by touchdown strikes of 22 yards to Dennis Colteaux and 30 yards to Curtis Carrillo. Mel Judson opened the Drake scoring with a 39-yard touchdown dash, and Henry Kremer closed it with a 2-yard plunge that made the score 33-6 in the fourth quarter.

Fishing Classes Repeated At Tam

Keith Fraser, co-owner of Loch Lomond Live Bait Shop and veteran striped bass fisherman, will repeat his lecture series on "The Art of Catching Striped Bass and Sturgeon in the Bay Area."

The free classes will be held in the upstairs mezzanine of the Tamalpais High School student center in Mill Valley. The session on stripers will be tomorrow and the one on sturgeon on Nov. 26, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. both days. They are part of the Tamalpais Adult School program.

DISASTER — Rangers' Rick Middleton (9) scored his fourth and final goal of the night while falling down. The rookie shot this third-period goal past masked goalie Gary Simmons and Stan Weir of the California Seals last night in New York. The Rangers won the National Hockey League game, 10-0.

'Middleton Had Quite A Night'

NEW YORK (AP) — After scoring his first three-goal hat trick of his pro hockey career, rookie Rick Middleton apparently interpreted the crowd's 30-second standing ovation as an encore — so he scored a fourth time to cap the New York Rangers' 10-0 joyride over the California Golden Seals.

"Mr. Middleton had himself quite a night," said New York coach Emile Francis after the National Hockey League game last night. "He's a pretty good rookie."

In case he forgets, or even more likely, according to his teammates, in case he never scores three goals in a game again, the blond youngster kept the third goal puck as a souvenir.

"He's got moves that nobody has seen before," said Derek Sanderson.

One of those moves was a back-handed goal scored while Middleton was falling down to the ice. It was his fourth score of the night and 10th of the season.

He also teamed well with veteran center Pete Stemkowski, combining on three of the Rangers' five first-period goals.

Untimely End For Football

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — A somber Vermont football team returned home yesterday, hoping it would play again but doubtful that students and trustees could be rallied to overturn an administration decision to drop the sport.

"It's hard to play when you think nobody cares," said freshman guard Herb Greene after Vermont ended its season with a 41-15 shellacking by American International Saturday.

The players and Coach Carl Falivene agreed after the game to fight to retain the sport, which is being dropped to save $200,000.

"It's a matter of priorities," Falivene said. "Whenever cuts have to be made it's always athletics that carries the brunt."

Football, despite a 77-year tradition, has not received large student or community support in recent years. The budget was smaller than at other Yankee Conference schools and the team never won a conference title. It finished last this year.

There were tears and bitterness in the locker room following the final defeat. "I think they timed it on purpose so that we would lose," said Rocky Thompson, a sophomore wide receiver. The decision was announced on Thursday by President Edward C. Andrews Jr.

"They're just taking it out on us," said sophomore guard Joe Juscin. "Why not take some money out of the other sports?"

Andrews, who skipped the game to go hunting on the first day of the deer season, had explained that across the board cuts in athletics would result in "third rate programs" in all sports.

The elimination of football was part of a $1.5 million budget reduction brought on by inflation and an order by Gov. Thomas P. Salmon to try to stay within current appropriations next year. Several academic programs were also eliminated.

Falivene said he had received an enthusiastic reaction from alumni and students when he promised to fight to save football but said that would not be enough.

defense made the difference, despite the score. It was the Pirate defense that limited Tam (2-3-1) to just 61 yards and three first downs through the first three and one-half periods.

The Tam defense, which had looked extremely strong in its last three games, fell victim to a balanced Drake attack that gained 123 yards rushing to balance the passing. Juniors Judson and Dave Egan led the Drake ground game, gaining 55 and 54 yards respectively.

Tam (2-3-1) was hurt by 16 penalties for 196 yards. Nonetheless, the Indians finished the scoring with two touchdowns in the last six minutes. Shannon Bynum sprinted 92 yards on a kickoff return for the first touchdown, then quarterback Ken Praszker tallied on a one-yard keeper.

Water Polo Meet Won By Marin

SANTA ROSA — College of Marin atoned for a so-so season by taking three straight games to win the Camino Norte Conference championship water polo meet Friday and Saturday at Santa Rosa Junior College.

The Tars finished below .500 in dual meets this year, but they beat Solano on Friday, 11-8, and Santa Rosa and Contra Costa on Saturday by identical 10-6 scores. Santa Rosa, which won the dual meet season, lost two of three games in the meet to finish tied with Solano for the overall CNC championship. Marin was third overall.

Paul Moe led the Marin win over Solano with eight goals, and he and Eric Rayner had four each against Santa Rosa. Pat Norton keyed the victory over Contra Costa with five goals.

Norton, Moe and goalie Al Weatherhead were named to the first all-tourney team, and Rayner and Steve Bitgood were honorable mention.

Marin Hockey Teams Win Four

Marin Amateur Hockey Club teams won four games without losing in Northern California Amateur Hockey League action over the weekend.

In games against San Francisco at Raydine Ice Skating rink in Corte Madera yesterday, the Pee Wees won, 5-2, and the Bantams were awarded a forfeit when the other team abandoned the ice in the second period with Marin leading, 4-1. Kip Cameron led the Pee Wees with a hat trick, and Tim O'Hara and Chris Bonbright had two goals each for the Bantams.

The Squirts played San Francisco in the city yesterday, and won 7-1. Richard Devenney had two goals, and five other players contributed one each. The Mites hosted Berkeley at Raydine Saturday, and won 8-3 behind six goals by Peter Schank.

NBA ROUNDUP

Baylor Takes Up Where Fired Coach Left Off

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Elgin Baylor took over the coaching duties of the New Orleans Jazz for one game yesterday and picked up right where fired Coach Scotty Robertson left off: explaining why the Jazz lost again.

Jazz President Fred Rosenfeld, disappointed over his team's 1-15 record, will name a permanent replacement today for Robertson, whom he fired yesterday. A successful coach at Louisiana Tech, Robertson seemed to have difficulty adjusting to the National Basketball Association and relating to his players.

Baylor, a superstar for the Lakers for many years, apparently does not want the responsibility of a head coaching assignment yet and Rosenfeld said he will name a coach "not presently in the Jazz organization and someone who has coached professional basketball."

Meanwhile, Baylor was left in the New Orleans locker room following yesterday's 99-85 loss to the Detroit Pistons, trying to explain why the team lost again.

"We ran our offense well in the first half," Baylor said, "but couldn't hit the open shots. In the second half, our offense broke down completely."

Bob Lanier contributed 26 points and 17 rebounds for Detroit while Pete Maravich led the Jazz with 24 points.

In the only other NBA games yesterday, Chicago whipped Los Angeles 96-76 and Golden State edged Phoenix 106-105.

Bulls 96 Lakers 76

Chet Walker scored 23 points and John Block added 21 as Chicago held the Lakers to their lowest point total in the 15 years they've been in Los Angeles.

Kentucky's Gilmore Displays His Greatness Vs. Indiana

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Artis Gilmore once said, "when I am playing the way I know I should be playing it excites me. I feel I can do anything, that no one can stop me."

Gilmore, Kentucky's 7-foot 2 center, had one of those games last night. Going against Indiana's Darnell Hillman, nearly a half-foot shorter and 25 pounds lighter, Gilmore paced the American Basketball Association Eastern Division-leading Colonels to their 12th victory in 14 games this year with an awesome show of dominance.

Gilmore did it all on both ends of the court, scoring 32 points, grabbing 28 rebounds, handing out 10 assists and blocking three shots to help the Colonels to a 116-103 triumph.

Squires 109 Sounds 108

David Vaughn's jumper with one second left gave Virginia its victory. Memphis led 108-103 with 14 seconds remaining until Virginia's George Irvine hit a jumper and stole an in-bounds pass to make it 108-107. Collis Jones threw away another pass with 10 seconds left to set up Vaughn's winning shot. Irvine had 29 points for the Squires but Memphis' Rick Mount led all scorers with 32. Stew Johnson added 22 for the Sounds.

Nets 126 Q's 109

Julius Erving had 30 points, 13 rebounds and seven assists to lead New York over the Q's. A trio of other Nets—John Williamson, Billy Paultz and Larry Kenon—scored 23, 19 and 18 points as New York stayed three games behind Kentucky in second place in the ABA East. Tim Bassett led San Diego with a season high of 22 points and Travis Grant added 20.

Nuggets 114 Stars 91

Denver ran off a team record 17 consecutive points midway through the second quarter and placed eight players in double figures enroute to its romp over Utah. The Nuggets were led by Ralph Simpson with 21 as they won their 10th straight home game. Utah got 15 points and 15 rebounds from Moses Malone.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Pac-8 Race Comes Down To What Was Expected

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The Pacific 8 Conference football race has come down to the point everyone expected even before the first tackle was made this Fall — Southern California against UCLA.

The Trojans, who have played the last two Saturdays the way coach John McKay had expected them to from the first game, routed Washington, 42-11, Saturday while UCLA took care of Oregon State, 33-14.

That left the two Los Angeles powerhouses a game apart in the standings with the big one coming up this Saturday in the L.A. Coliseum.

A Southern Cal victory would give the Trojans the title outright and earn them a spot in the Rose Bowl for the third straight year and the seventh time in the last nine years.

A UCLA victory would leave the Bruins tied with the Trojans and the winner of the California-Stanford match in Berkeley for first place, but the honor of playing in the Rose Bowl would fall to UCLA.

That's because California is on National Collegiate Athletic Association probation and Stanford would have only a 5-4-2 overall record compared to the Bruins' 7-2-2. UCLA and Stanford played to a 13-13 standoff in their regular-season meeting.

Michigan and Ohio State will be battling for the Big 10 title a few hours before the start of the Southern Cal-UCLA game, and their objective is the same — to win a Rose Bowl berth.

California and Stanford both won their games last Saturday by way of getting ready for their so-called "Big Game" this Saturday. Cal, behind another outstanding performance from Steve Bartkowski, held on to beat Washington State, 37-33, and Stanford parlayed the running of Scott Laidlaw and its best defensive effort of the season into a 17-0 triumph over Oregon.

Anthony Davis, as he has been season long, was Southern Cal's offensive hero. The 5-9, 183-pound tailback improved his credentials for Heisman Trophy consideration by rushing for 147 yards in 29 carries against Washington. That made him the first three-time 1,000-yard rusher in Pac 8 history and left him only 10 yards short of O. J. Simpson's league rushing record of 3,423 yards.

Russel Charles scored two of UCLA's TDs against Oregon State and the Bruin defense held the Beavers off despite a 342-yard passing offense.

Bartkowski, who is being boomed for All-America honors, didn't hurt his chances one bit by completing 21 of 30 passes for 304 yards. It was the second straight game in which he has passed for more than 300 yards, and his season total is 162 completions in 280 attempts for 2,262 yards and only six interceptions.

Despite his play it took a fumble recovery by linebacker Rick Booth with 1:30 left to play and WSU marching in for a touchdown to save the victory, which gave Cal an overall mark of 7-2-1, its best since 1968.

League champion San Diego State whipped New Mexico State, 35-14 for its seventh victory in nine starts to feature play in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association in the other games, San Jose State routed Fullerton State, 49-8, Pacific beat Wyoming, 50-14, Fresno State downed Wichita State, 24-12, and Long Beach State edged Western Michigan, 34-33.

HOGAN, NOVATO FRIDAY

Novato High School will meet Hogan of Vallejo Friday night in the third annual Top of the Bay Bowl.

The post-season football game, featuring the champions of the Marin County Athletic League and the North Bay League, will be played at Corbus Field in Vallejo, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Novato will be making its second straight appearance in the game, having lost last year to Petaluma, 7-6. The Hornets clinched the MCAL championship a week ago and finished undefeated at 5-0-1.

Hogan won the right to represent the NBL Saturday with a 41-7 victory over Santa Rosa. The Spartans finished their league season with a 6-1 record.

Broncos Triumph In Pop Warner

NAPA — San Marin Broncos, champs of the Marin-Sonoma Pop Warner Pee Wee Division, whipped Golden Empire Conference Pee Wee champs Napa Chargers, 26-6, yesterday in Memorial Stadium.

Mitch Edwards scored two of the Broncos' touchdowns, one a 10-yard pass from halfback Dino DeSousa and the other a 22-yard pass from quarterback Larry Ghirardo. DeSousa scored one of three second quarter touchdowns on a 33-yard run. Chris Setting kicked two extra points.

The Broncos ended the season with nine wins, no losses and a tie. It was the Chargers' first loss in nine games.

Terra Linda Is 4th In Water Polo Tourney

LAFAYETTE — Terra Linda High School dropped two of its final three games Saturday to finish fourth among eight teams in the North Coast Invitational water polo tournament at Acalanes High.

The Marin County Athletic League champion Trojans, who had won their opening-round game Friday over Los Lomas, 10-7, defeated Alameda, 9-3, on Saturday between losses of 15-2 to Campolindo and 7-4 to Miramonte. Campolindo won the tourney, with Acalanes second and Miramonte third.

Mike Barton paced Terra Linda's victory over Alameda with three goals, while Steve Crow and Tom Enright had two each. Crow and Enright were joined by Tom Olund for the Trojans on the second all-tourney team.

Casa Grande Stunned In Final Game

Mike Balliett's 47-yard field goal and a ball-hawking defense carried Rancho Cotate High School to a 9-6, upset win over Casa Grande Saturday night in a season-ending football game at Durst Field in Petaluma.

Both teams finished at 5-2, tied for second place in the Sonoma County League.

The Cougars scored in the second period on a two-yard run by Tony Crisafulli, and Balliett's kick made it 9-0 in the third period. Casa Grande finally scored in the last quarter on a five-yard run by Dan Lutz.

NFL ROUNDUP

Familiar Face Leading Race

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

It took 10 weeks but the Miami Dolphins are back on top.

The World Champions moved into first place for the first time this season yesterday and they did it with a mixture of old stars and new faces as they erupted in the final minute for a thrilling 35-28 victory over the Buffalo Bills. Miami and Buffalo entered the game tied for first in the American Conference East and now the Dolphins lead by one game with four to go.

The old heroes were quarterback Bob Griese, wide receiver Paul Warfield and fullback Larry Csonka and the new star was reserve fullback Don Nottingham.

Griese completed 11-of-18 passes for 237 yards, four of them going to Warfield for 139 yards, including a 49-yard touchdown pass. Csonka, playing on a painful swollen ankle, blasted for TD runs of two and six yards and Nottingham, the "Human Bowling Bowl" ran for two last period scores to win the game for Miami.

Nottingham, a squat 5-foot-10, 210-pounder called on when Csonka couldn't continue, ran 11 yards for one TD to give Miami a 28-21 lead and after Buffalo tied the score on Gary Marangi's five-yard TD pass to Bob Chandler, he ripped 23 yards up the middle with 19 seconds left for the winning score.

Miami surged to a 14-0 lead on Csonka's touchdown and Griese's pass to Warfield and Csonka's second TD after Joe Ferguson scored for Buffalo left Miami ahead 21-7 after three periods. But they combined for five touchdowns in a wild fourth quarter that saw the Dolphins boost their record to 8-2 and drop Buffalo to 7-3.

Dave Washington returned Mecury Morris' fumble 42 yards for a Bills TD and Marangi, replacing the injured Ferguson, threw a 44-yard pass to J.D. Hill, who made a diving catch in the end zone to tie the score at 21-21. Nottingham put Miami ahead, Marangi tied it and then Nottingham won it.

This has been the year of the upset and it continued yesterday. Houston upended Cincinnati for the second time this year 20-3, the New York Jets toppled New England 21-16, New Orleans stopped Los Angeles 20-7, Green Bay tripped up Minnesota 19-7 and Baltimore beat Atlanta 17-7. In other games, Pittsburgh beat Cleveland 26-16, Washington held on to beat Dallas 28-21, Oakland defeated San Diego 17- 10 and St. Louis dumped Philadelphia 13-3, Detroit edged the New York Giants 20-19 and San Francisco bombed Chicago 34-0. Kansas City is at Denver tonight.

Oilers 20, Bengals 3

Jets 21, Patriots 16

Joe Namath threw an 11-yard TD pass to Bob Burns and a 34-yarder to David Knight for the deciding score and the Jet defense intercepted Jim Plunkett four time to pace New York's victory.

Packers 19, Vikings 7

Saints 20, Rams 7

Archie Manning threw two TD passes and Bill McClard had a pair of field goals as New Orleans ended Los Angeles' four-game winning streak and kept the Rams from clinching the National Football Conference West title.

Lions 20, Giants 19

Redskins 28, Cowboys 21

Washington surged to a 28-0 halftime lead but had to stop Dallas on the five in the final minute to win.

Cardinals 13, Eagles 3

Colts 17, Falcons 7

Quarterback Marty Domres ran 12 yards for one score and Bill Olds blasted a yard for another as the Colts sent Atlanta to their eighth loss in 10 games.

Steelers 26, Browns 16

Roy Gerela kicked four field goals and J.T. Thomas scored on a 14-yard fumble return as Pittsburgh beat the Browns in Cleveland for the first time in 10 years.

MEMPHIS — The fledgling World Football League revised its playoff schedule a third time yesterday, and opted for six teams, an official said.

Terry Lee, information director for the Memphis Southmen, said the quarter-finals will see Hawaii at Southern California Wednesday and Philadelphia at Florida Thursday. # Marin 'Cats Rally To Win

Marin Catholic High School exploded for three touchdowns in the fourth quarter Saturday to defeat Ravenswood of East Palo Alto, 35-20 in a season-ending football game at Kentfield.

Ed Ugarte scored the first two Marin Catholic touchdowns on 10-yard runs, but the Wildcats trailed, 20-13, at the end of three quarters. Jeff Reusche closed the gap to one point with a 16-yard dash, and Bob Yetter combined with Rich Speidel for a two-point conversion that gave Marin Catholic the lead for good.

Yetter then found Speidel with touchdown bombs of 42 and 31 yards to put the game out of reach. The victory was the Wildcats' fifth in their last seven games, after they lost their first three of the season.

Yetter completed 11 of 26 passes for 129 yards, with Speidel grabbing seven for 119. Ugarte had 40 yards in eight carries.

FOR CROSS COUNTRY MEET TITLE

San Rafael, Redwood Expected To Contend

San Rafael and Redwood high schools are expected to be in he thick of the battle for the varsity crown at tomorrow's North Coast Cross Country Championships at St. Mary's College in Moraga.

The two Marin County Athletic League schools will be facing Division I winner Castro Valley and Division II champ Ygnacio Valley for the top honors. San Rafael won Division III and Redwood was runner-up. Fourth place Drake will also be representing the MCAL tomorrow, making it the league's strongest contingent ever at the North Coast finals. Schools from throughout Northern California will be competing.

Leading the San Rafael team are seniors Ray Green and Tom O'Reilly, while Hal Schulz paces Redwood. Redwood might move freshman Rod Berry, undefeated in frosh-soph competition, to varsity to increase the Giants' chances of a first-place victory.

Individual winner is expected to be Roy Kissin of San Ramon High. He was runner-up last year in the North Coast meet and a finalist in the two-mile event at the California state track meet.

In the frosh-soph portion of the North Coast championships, Tamalpais, winner of the MCAL and Division III meets, should be battling Pleasant Hill, Moreau of Redwood City, Mission San Jose, El Cerrito and San Rafael for the overall honors. Redwood's Berry would be among the favorities in this race if he competes frosh-soph instead of varsity. Other top runners from Marin in this race will be Aran Collier of Tam, Bruce Gregg of Redwood and Mike O'Reilly of San Rafael.

The girls' race looks to be a two-team contest between Tamalpais and Pleasant Hill. It could be quite an individual contest between Tam's Linda Broderick and Pleasant Hill's Kathy Costello, winner of the half-mile in last year's state meet. Other MCAL runners with a strong chance of landing in the top 10 are San Rafael' Laurie Scharningausen, Tam's Theresa Bertolino and Redwood's Wendy Severinghaus.

Marin County cross country coaches are very excited about the chances MCAL teams have of placing in all three divisions this year. The varsity runners will be competing over a three-mile course, the frosh-soph over a two-mile course, and the girls over a mile and one-half course. The meets starts at 3:30.

WAITING TO DO GOOD TURN

Kenneth Sadler, 12, a senior patrol leader for Boy Scout Troop 21 of San Rafael, stands patiently beside a moving van, waiting for neighbors to bring in donations for Salvation Army and Goodwill. The castoffs were slow in coming Saturday outside the Safeway store at 700 B Street; officials of the two charities have blamed economic conditions for a slump in their intake of donated clothing and other goods. Scouts throughout the Bay Area made a special effort to help the cause during their Good Turn Day Saturday. Scout officials said today they had not yet tallied how many bags of donations were collected.

New Cause For Concern About Pot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today raised new health questions about marijuana use, saying that test results so far are inconclusive but there is "cause for concern and caution."

The Health, Education and Welfare report said the scientific evidence is hardest on the effects of marijuana smoking on driver performance.

"A definitive evaluation of marijuana's harmfulness or safety for humans cannot be offered at this time on the basis of scientific evidence available," said Dr. Robert L. DuPont, director of HEW's National Institute on Drug Abuse, which prepared the report.

"But there is cause for concern and caution based on evidence from animal studies and some preliminary human studies summarized in this report," DuPont said.

"For now it would seem the possible adverse effects should lead marijuana smokers or potential smokers to question whether it is worth the risk."

The report, completed early this year, was delayed to include new research which raised more questions about the potential health effects of marijuana smoking.

"Whatever the ultimate evidence of more serious consequences of chronic cannabis use, there is little question that acute marijuana intoxication interferes with immediate intellectual functioning as well as with driving and other psychomotor skills," DuPont said in a foreward to report.

The report was released just three days after DuPont called for decriminalization of private use of marijuana.

The most recent studies included in the report raise questions about the effects of marijuana on male sex hormone levels, interference with the body's disease-resistant response and effects on fundamental cell metabolism.

One series of animal studies indicates that one of the active ingredients of marijuana — delta-9-THC — and possibly other ingredients have a potentially harmful effect on cell metabolism which could disturb basic biological processes and interfere with the body's immune response, the report said.

However, it added that no human research has been reported which demonstrates that disease resistance is significantly impaired by marijuana use.

Another series of pre-clininal studies, also termed "speculative," suggest that THC delays rejection of skin grafts in rats and inhibits the growth of tumors in mice.

"Whether this suggests a possible future usefulness of THC in human organ transplant surgery, and in the treatment of human tumors, is also purely speculative at this time, awaiting further extensive research," HEW said.

The report said evidence continues to mount that marijuana affects auto driving ability, especially as the amount smoked increases. It has been found to increase both braking and starting times, to adversely affect attention and concentration abilities and to detract from performance on attention tasks involved in driving, the report said.

"There is concern that alteration in hormone levels could interfere with normal adolescent development or with sexual differentiation of male fetuses in pregnant women who smoke marijuana at critical periods of fetal development," it said.

Further Consideration Slated For New Coal Miner Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Mine Workers bargaining council resumes further consideration of a proposed new contract later this week following a break to attend funeral services for a slain union leader.

Officials of the striking miners suspended deliberations on the tentative three-year coal industry contract Saturday after Samuel Littlefield, president of UMW District 20, was fatally shot during a robbery attempt at his motel.

UMW officials said the murder was not related to the contract talks.

Littlefield, 54, was shot to death Friday evening just minutes after discussions on the proposed pact adjourned. Memorial services will be held today in his home town of Bessemer, Ala.

The remaining 37 council members and other top mine union officials were expected to attend before returning to Washington to resume deliberations tomorrow.

The council began consideration of the proposed contract, the first step in the union's lengthy ratification process, Thursday. But their review had been going slower than expected even before the shooting. The unexpected three-day delay makes it virtually certain the strike w ll not end before early December.

Union sources said it would take "at least 10 days" to complete the ratification process after resumption of the review and there were indications that the contract might be in trouble.

The UMW's 120,000 miners walked out Tuesday morning shutting down mines nationwide but a tentative agreement was reached with the Bituminous Coal Operator's Association Wednesday.

The strike, now in its sixth day, has idled thousands of workers across the country and threatens to jeopardize thousands of more jobs if the ratification does not come soon.
